

COMM 5310 Communication Research Methods

Professor: Ashleigh M. Day, PhD
Office: CAS 229
E-mail: aday@uttyler.edu
Office Hours: Tuesdays & Thursdays 12:00pm-1:30pm on Zoom & by appointment on Zoom
I can also meet via telephone, if needed

Class Time: Thursday, 6:00pm-8:45pm
Classroom: CAS 257
Section: 001
Course #: 80086

Course Description:

Introduction to the uses, assumptions, processes, techniques, principles, and critical evaluation of qualitative and quantitative research methods applied in the systematic study of communication.

Course Goals and Objectives:

This class is aimed at getting you acquainted with some of the basic issues, analytic techniques, and ways of thinking associated with communication research. We will be examining various research paradigms, writing methods, common methods of data collection, and data analysis techniques used to test empirical questions. The goal of this course is to provide you with a graduate-level introduction to research methods.

Student Learning Outcomes:

1. Be able to design original research using a method appropriate to the research question.
 - a. Be a critical evaluator of research.
 - b. Be able to read and understand communication research.
 - c. Have a working knowledge of the different types of communication research methods.
 - d. Be able to formulate research questions and design a research study using the appropriate methods to answer those questions.
 - e. Be able to carry out a research project.
 - f. Be able to use primary sources for communication scholarship.
 - g. Be able to write and present a research report using the appropriate style guidelines.

Learning is a process!

Increased effort + incorporating feedback & revising your work = improved performance

Required Textbook:

Davis, C. L., & Lachlan, K. A. (2017). Straight talk about communication research methods (3rd ed.). Kendall Hunt Publishing Company. ISBN: 9781524916145

- Additional assigned readings will be posted on Canvas.
- All course readings are to be read previous to coming to class on the day they are assigned for. It is expected that students bring their book/reading(s) to each class.

Recommended, Helpful Books (but not required):

Babbie, E. R. (2016). The Practice of social research (14th ed.) Cengage Learning.

Creswell, J. W., & Creswell, J. D. (2018). Research design: Qualitative, quantitative, and mixed methods approaches (5th ed.). Sage.

Fall 2020 COVID-19 Impacts:

- IF YOU FEEL ILL OR FEAR YOU HAVE BEEN EXPOSED TO COVID-19, PLEASE STAY HOME! In this case, please email me as soon as possible so we can devise a plan for your continued success in the class.
- Everyone is required to wear a face mask/covering when inside university buildings. Failure to do so will result in the student(s) being ask to leave the classroom. Please remember to always have a face mask/covering with you while on campus.
 - All UT Tyler students, staff, & faculty can receive a free cloth mask, provided by the university. Check this website for distribution locations & times: <https://www.uttyler.edu/news/announcements/2020/07062020z.php>
 - There are sanitation stations across campus as well as disposable mask points-of-distribution sites.
 - Students that refuse to wear a face mask/covering will not be physically permitted in our class and may be reported to the appropriate university personnel.
 - See the “University Policies” section for additional information provided by the university.
- Maintain social distancing AT ALL TIMES while in class. Current recommendations at UT Tyler are for all areas to maintain a six-foot physical distancing. Failure to do so will result in the student(s) being ask to leave the classroom.
- All course-related work will be submitted to Canvas. No paper assignment or activity responses will be accepted, unless noted otherwise.
 - To facilitate in-class activities, please bring an electronic device that can connect to Canvas. Instead of completing paper-based activities in class, I will ask students to submit their answers online (i.e., via email or on a Canvas discussion board). Thus, a smartphone, tablet, or laptop will be needed in class.

- You will need technology with a webcam and microphone for online lectures, presentations, Zoom meetings, etc. (Most smartphones, tablets, laptops have these components).
- As our class is slotted as face-to-face, we will be mandated to operate at 50% capacity—also known as ‘COVID-19 Capacity’—in the classroom to conform with social distancing requirements. Meaning, that if the class enrollment exceeds 50% of the classroom space we are in, we will have to move to a hybrid format. For instance, if our classroom can hold 20 students in compliance with social distancing requirements (50%, COVID-19 capacity), but we have 30 students enrolled in the class, we will have to move to a hybrid format. Group A will be ½ of the class (i.e., 15 students) and they will come in person one day a week: Tuesdays. Group B will be the other ½ of the class (i.e., 15 students) and they will come in person one day a week: Thursdays. Zoom will be used to facilitate attendance for a group’s ‘online’ day. In this case, lecture materials will be posted online for the group that does not attend in person.
 - Further, if it is decided that moving to a hybrid or online format is needed, students will be notified immediately (please see the elasticity clause).
- Due to our unique situation this fall, I may be required to record lecture and discussion. Please be aware that recordings may be part of our class. Students are only permitted to use these recordings for class-related purposes. Students are not permitted to post the recordings anywhere or use the recordings for insidious purposes. If any lectures/discussions are recorded, they will be posted to Canvas.
 - Recording of lecture will only take place on a need-by-need basis, as determined by the professor.
 - Live streaming of class on Zoom will be the preferred format for students that cannot attend in-person and/or on days that class is held ‘online.’ Having class/lecture ‘online’ does not mean ‘work at your own pace’; instead, it means we will have class synchronously, unless noted otherwise.
 - Students attending class on Zoom will still be required to attend class at the designated, synchronous time of our class. In these instances, lecture will not be recorded. Lecture will only be recorded if and when the professor deems necessary and/or we are unexpectedly mandated to function as an entirely online course.
- After Thanksgiving Break, classes will be held ONLINE—including finals. This decision was made by UT Tyler and will be implemented across the university.
- In the event that our course is moved to be completely online previous to Thanksgiving Break, students will be required to attend our class at the same, regularly scheduled time in a virtual format on Zoom.

Assignments (400 points total):

Additional details, requirements, & grading rubrics will be discussed in class and posted on Canvas.

- Research Prep. & Training (18.75%, 75 points)
 1. IRB Training = 25 points
 2. Article Critique Paper = 25 points
 3. Article Critique Presentation = 25 points

- Preparation Assignments for Final Project – Opportunities for Feedback & Revision 😊 (31.25%, 125 points)
 1. Research Topic & Possible Research Questions/Hypotheses = 25 points
 2. Introduction, Literature Review, Refined Hs/RQs = 25 points
 3. Methodology Draft = 25 points
 4. Compiled, Edited Rough Draft = 25 points
 5. Response to Reviewers' Feedback about Your Rough Draft = 25 points

- Final Project: Paper and Presentation (37.5%, 150 points)
 1. Final Paper = 100 points
 2. Final Presentation = 50 points

- Participation (12.5%, 50 points)

If you've taken my classes before, you know that I value dialogue; my preference to explore course concepts through discussion and activity-centered learning, versus lecture alone. Verbalizing course concepts and theories is one of the best ways to learn new material, and our shared stories and insights provide a rich context for the theories and constructs discussed throughout the course. To help encourage and incentivize discussion participation among all students, I will assess your participation in class discussions and activities several times during the semester, if not during every class period.

I will call on everyone; yes, even if you didn't raise your hand! This learning technique is not to embarrass you or make you feel put-on-the-spot. Rather, this technique is used to assess students' understanding of concepts and help all students actively engage with course content. 'Cold calling' on students ensures that everyone is accountable for the course content and encourages each student to begin to formulate a possible answer. This technique increases student engagement and achievement, which is what you're here for!

Part of your participation grade may include homework. These assignments may be distributed in class (and be due the next class period), or these assignments may be part of your weekly course assignments that are noted in the course calendar. Some homework may be unannounced in-class quizzes on assigned readings or take-home quizzes to submit the following class period. Homework is always due by the time class begins on the assigned due date.

In regard to Participation, I want to emphasize the importance of “quality” as much as “quantity.” You don’t have to talk all the time to receive a “high participation” score; in fact, you are better off contributing a few high quality, topic-relevant comments that show you did the reading than many low quality, personal observations or stories that don’t illustrate your understanding of the reading. Participation may also take the form of Q&A, in-class activities/simulations, student discussion leader, micro team presentations, etc.

Distracting, inappropriate, and/or unprofessional behavior(s) will result in the student earning zero (0) points for participation on each day these behaviors occur. If this type of behavior is a pattern, the student will be asked to schedule a meeting with the professor. In more serious circumstances, other university officials will be notified.

A detailed grading rubric for participation is located in the table below.

High Participation (full credit)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Participant offers solid analysis, without prompting, to move the conversation forward. • Participant, through their comments, demonstrates a deep knowledge of the text. • Participant has come to the seminar prepared and it is clear they did the reading. • Participant, through their comments, shows that they are actively listening to others. • Participant offers clarification and/or follow-up that extends the conversation.
Some Participation (half credit)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Participant offers some analysis, but needs prompting from the instructor. • Through comments, participant demonstrates a general knowledge of the text. • Participant is less prepared and does not appear to have read materials closely. • Participant is actively listening to others, but does not follow-up on others’ comments • Participant relies more upon their opinion, and less on the readings or materials.

No Participation (0 credit)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Participant is not present in class. • Participant offers little or no commentary. • Participant comes to the seminar ill-prepared with little understanding of the topic. • Participant does not listen to others, offers no commentary. • Participant distracts the group by interrupting or offering off topic questions or comments. • Participant engages in inappropriate discourse (off-topic, offensive, threatening, racist, sexist, etc.). • Participant is using technology and not engaging in the discussion.

More details about assignments and requirements will be provided in class or on Canvas.

Grading Scale

400 – 360 pts. = A 100% - 90%

359 – 320 pts. = B 89% - 80%

319 – 280 pts. = C 79% - 70%

279 – 240 pts. = D 69% - 60%

239 – 0 pts. = F 59% - 0%

Course Policies

Feedback

Feedback from the professor and your peers is an essential part of this course. Feedback should be used not only to assess how well you've done, but also to help you grow; to expand your skills; to identify areas in need of improvement, and; to help you master course learning outcomes! In noting how important feedback is to this course, a few tips on how to provide and receive constructive feedback:

Providing feedback to others:

- All feedback is to be constructive, professional, and encouraging. You should identify areas in need of improvement and errors, but do so in a way that is sincere and aimed at encouraging to the receiver.
- Give feedback on others' work, not their personality, looks, etc.
- Give descriptive, specific, non-judgemental feedback.
- Give feedback on immediate assignment/behaviour, not on the past.
- Share your perceptions and feelings based on the evidence/actions.
- Give feedback only when asked and on the topics asked about.
- Do not give people more feedback than they can understand. KISS: Keep It Short 'n Sweet
- Focus your feedback on actions that the person can change.
- Take accountability; use "I" statements when crafting feedback.
- The Sandwich Method: Start with a positive comment, then provide the constructive feedback addressing the areas in need of improvement, and end with a positive comment.

Receiving feedback from others:

- Thoroughly read all feedback. Take some time to process the feedback.
- If you are upset by the feedback, give it a day. Think about it for a day or so. After this, ask the person for clarification. Are you upset by the feedback or something else? Did you put the effort in that was needed? Did you proofread? Did you follow the instructions and check the grading rubric before submission?
- Do not take it personal! Feedback in our class is meant to help you grow and master course-related skills. Being able to understand and respond to feedback is an important skill for your life in academia, in the professional world, and in personal relationships.

Grading

Why are grades important? Well, they serve multiple roles, including:

- evaluation of the quality of student work;
- communication of performance to the student, employers, and graduate schools;
- motivation for students to study and put effort into the course;
- a defined organization, with grades marking transitions or bringing closure to sections of a course; and
- faculty/student reflection of what students are collectively learning and how instructors might adapt their teaching

Source: Walvoord, B. E., & Anderson, V. J. (2010). Effective grading: A tool for learning and assessment in college (2nd ed.). San Francisco, CA: Jossey-Bass.

“C” or Lower: All students that receive a “C” or lower on any major assignments are highly encouraged to come to office hours (or schedule an appointment). Please take responsibility and accountability for your learning and improvement. Remember, learning is a process and I am here to guide you along the way! These meetings are meant to help you strategize your planning, preparation, and performance for the future so that you can achieve mastery in course concepts and skills. These meetings will be productive, supportive, and dialogic.

Grade Discussion: Wait at least 24 hours after receiving a grade to talk with the professor about your grade (unless there was an error in calculation of the grade). I ask that you wait so that you can look back over the assignment and review your notes and the textbook, then think about the reasons why you earned the grade. I want you to act rather than react to the grade. After this, you are to discuss any extant concerns with the professor in a scheduled meeting or during office hours. The tone of all meetings concerning grades are to be respectful and professional. Failure to act in such a manner will result in termination of the meeting. I will not discuss individual grades during class time. Nor will I entertain grade complaints during class time. I will not discuss grades/grading/etc. via email. Such discussions are to occur in a meeting and having a meeting does not imply that a grade will be altered.

After a meeting, if deemed appropriate, the student may be asked to submit an appeal in writing (again, only after a meeting). I must receive the e-mail within two days of its request; include your specifications and the grade you believe you deserve. Disputes will not be entertained beyond two days after its request. You cite sources and course material to support your written appeal. Meaning, if the student fails to send it within the specified timeframe (two days), the dispute will be automatically forfeited by the student. If any grade is to be reevaluated, the new earned grade may be lower than the previous grade. If an assignment is reevaluated, the professor may find something that they did not find before that should actually lower the grade.

Earning Your Grade: You will receive the grade that you earn throughout the semester; so, please start working hard early on and applying feedback you’ve received early on, too. Review feedback on your assignments through Canvas, in writing/email, and/or schedule a meeting with me to receive additional feedback. Drop by my virtual office hours! Review course policies. Thoroughly read assignment instructions and rubrics. Review your class notes and readings before AND after class. Take advantage of extra credit opportunities, which are provided to the entire class—not individual students. Remember, learning is a process—one that requires iteration, effort, feedback, and application of feedback.

E-mail & Communications

UT-Tyler e-mail is my preferred form of contact. Allow a 48-hour window for a response. I cannot guarantee that emails sent the day before or the day of an assignment due date will be answered before the due date; thus, plan ahead and begin working on assignments well before the due dates!

You should treat our online correspondence with the same respect as any business or legal communication. Emails that do not conform to these standards will not be answered. It is in your best interest to write your course emails with professionalism in mind. Also, be sure to include the course number and specific topic of discussion in the subject line, address the email to your recipient, specify what you are referencing in as much detail as possible in the body of the email, and sign your first and last name in the email.

All students must email the professor using their UT Tyler assigned email. All other emails will not be responded to (e.g., Gmail, Yahoo, etc.). This policy is in place to protect you and your privacy.

All students are required to check their UT Tyler email as well as Canvas for course-related announcements. Please be sure to have your Canvas settings configured so that you receive the Canvas announcements in your UT Tyler email and receive Canvas notifications for our course. Failure to check course-related communications or failure to configure your email/Canvas settings to receive this information is not an excuse for missing assignments, lecture, or any other course-related information/changes/assignments/etc.

Due Dates and Late Work

You should always strive to turn in course assignments on the noted due dates. However, life happens—and I know this! The assignments in this class are vital to your success; thus, I want you to complete them, even if it is a bit late. However, late work should not become a norm. Late work is not ideal for a variety of reasons, one top reason being point deductions. For each day an assignment is late, 10% of the assignment's points will be deducted. After five days of lateness, assignments are no longer eligible for late submission and will receive zero points.

Below, an example is outlined:

- Assignment 1 is due on a Thursday at 2:00pm, worth 100 points.
- You submit Assignment 1 on Thursday at 5:00pm. The highest grade you could get is 90 points (10% deduction for being one day late).
 - Note: The 'one day' late starts the minute after the assignment due date time. In this example, 2:01pm would technically be 'late.'
- Let's say another student submits Assignment 1 on Friday at 8:00pm. The highest grade they could get is 80 points (10% deduction x 2 days late = 20% reduction).
- The following Tuesday at 2:01pm is the fifth day in the late work sequence and the late assignment would not earn any points at this point.

Feedback for late assignments will be provided at a time convenient to the professor. I set up specific times to grade and provide students with timely feedback; thus, due dates are also important for this reason. Assignment submitted late may conflict with other course timelines or priorities; thus, timely feedback (like what is given for assignments submitted on time) cannot be guaranteed.

Exceptions: Assignment make-ups will be allowed only in emergency situations with verifiable documentation (e.g., doctor's note, jury duty summons). Work-related events do not qualify as an extreme emergency. The course schedule and due dates are set well in advance and students have access to this information; thus, please plan accordingly. In order to make up an assignment:

- The student must take the initiative to contact the professor for permission to do a make-up an assignment within two days of missing the due date. After this point, if the professor does not hear from the student, they will not be allowed to make up the assignment and will have earned zero points.
 - Verifiable documentation that excuses the student's absence must be provided to the professor before a make-up opportunity is discussed or scheduled. Such documentation should be provided to the professor within two days of the student's absence.
- The student must meet the make-up deadline set by the professor. If the student misses the make-up deadline, there will not be another opportunity to make-up the speech.
- There must be sufficient class time remaining for the student to make up an assignment. If not, the student may have to make-up the assignment in the professor's office at a set, scheduled time.

Attendance

You are a vital part of this class; so, come and arrive on time! While I do not enforce a penalty system for absences, students that miss more than two (2) classes will likely notice a substantial impact on their grade due to missing in-class discussions, application activities, etc. Students who miss two or more classes often perform poorly on course assessments. Furthermore, I do track attendance in Canvas so that I can see correlations between student attendance, effort, performance, outcomes, and grades. If you acquire two (2) or more unexcused absences, it is likely that the professor will check-in with you via email and ask you to schedule an appointment with her to ensure that you are setup to succeed in the class.

If you arrive late to class, it is your responsibility to ensure that the professor marks you present. Attendance will be taken at the beginning of class. If you leave class early without notifying the professor, you will be marked absence. This clause is applicable to Zoom/online courses as well.

If you know you will miss class due to a university-related activity, let me know beforehand. These are excused with proper notice, but course work is still expected to be turned in on time. If you are absent from class—for any reason—it is your responsibility to determine what was missed, to hand in any work, and complete any homework or readings that were assigned in-class during your absence. If you need assistance because of university-related absences (e.g., debate, sports, etc.), you must contact me before the missed class.

All of these clauses are applicable to online courses and Zoom classes, too. In the case where class is held in person, but you need/want to attend via Zoom, the professor must know at least 48 hours in advance to ensure she has the proper technology and lesson-planning materials needed to accommodate both in-person learning and distance learning.

IF YOU FEEL ILL OR FEAR YOU HAVE BEEN EXPOSED TO COVID-19, PLEASE STAY HOME AND DO NOT COME TO IN-PERSON CLASSES! In this case, please email the professor as soon as possible so we can devise a plan for your continued success in the class.

Diversity and Classroom Civility

People and ideas must be treated with respect in the classroom. We all bring unique, valid, and diverse experiences to the classroom. Please avoid disruptive behavior that makes it difficult to accomplish our mutual objectives. Disrespectful, threatening, diminishing, minimizing, racist, sexist, homophobic, etc. and/or inappropriate talk, nonverbals, suggestions, drawings/writing, etc. will not be tolerated. Such actions will result in point deductions and the student(s) being removed from the classroom. The Department Chair and/or College Dean may be notified if the infraction is major, which may result in more serious repercussions.

Expectations for Respectful Dialogue & Behavior

We all come to the classroom with differing experiences and viewpoints, which means that we have so much to learn from each other! In order to get the most out of this opportunity, it is important that we don't shy away from our differences. Rather, we should show respect for differences by seeking to understand, taking ownership for our learning and growth, asking questions, clarifying our understanding, and/or respectfully explaining our own perspective. This way, everybody walks away with new perspectives on the issue and respecting others with different values or beliefs.

If someone says something that bothers you for any reason, assume that your peer did not mean to be offensive and ask your peer to clarify what they meant. Then explain the impact it had on you. If your classmates tell you that something you said or wrote bothered them, assume that they are not attacking you, but rather that they are sharing something that might be important for you to know.

At your comfort and convenience, please let the professor (and the class, if desired) know your preferred name and preferred gender pronouns. Please note, you do not and are not required to ever share this information if you do not want to.

Everyone's diverse identities are to be respected. In the case that a student ridicules, threatens, violates, disrespects, etc. another student's gender, sexual, racial, religious, ethnic, physical, etc. identity/ies, that student will be in violation of the Classroom Civility policy and likely the Expectations for Respectful Dialogue policy (and likely other policies for our class and at the university-level, too). In these instance, the student will be asked to leave the classroom and the incident will be reported to the appropriate university personnel, such as the Office of Student Conduct and Intervention, the CAS Dean, etc.

Electronics and Technology Policy

All electronics and technology that are being used in the classroom must be for purposes related to the class. Meaning, students are not permitted to use electronics and technology for non-education purposes (e.g., texting friends about lunch plans, surfing social media, etc.). All electronics must be placed on 'silent' mode.

Students tend to learn more when taking notes by hand (compared to typing notes during class). Also, refer to an article written by Ann Curzan from The Chronicle as to why I am asking you to adhere to this policy: <http://chronicle.com/blogs/linguafranca/2014/08/25/why-im-asking-you-not-to-use-laptops/>. You may use an electronic device to take class notes, but in the event that class notes are permitted for use on an exam, they must be handwritten or printed out and verified by the professor. NO electronic devices will be allowed during in-person exams.

The professor will kindly remind you on your first occurrence if you violate the electronic and technology policies. If a student has to be told to put their phone/laptop/other electronic device on silent or put it away beyond this, or is using any other device inappropriately or in a distracting manner, they will not earn points for that day and/or their grade on the next assignment will be lowered by -10 points. If subsequent behavior takes place, your final grade for the course will be lowered by -10 points for each additional occurrence. Students violating this policy may be asked to leave the classroom and to visit the professor in her office hours. It is the student's responsibility to attend office hours in this case.

If you must use your phone or electronic device during class for purposes not related to the course, please quietly excuse yourself to the hallway. While in the hallway, please still be mindful of your volume. Refrain from excusing yourself to the hallway multiple times during a single class period as this is very distracting for the professor and your peers.

Zoom/Online Lectures

In the event that lectures move to online or are scheduled online for specific times, you are required to show up on time. Your camera should be turned on or you should display a still-image of your headshot or avatar for the entirety of our class period. Regardless of what you display, you are required to be prepared to engage in discussion; thus, be sure to 'unmute' yourself when asked. You must join through your UT Tyler Zoom accounts. You must have your full name displayed when using Zoom for class. Please ensure you have a working laptop, camera, microphone/audio, and solid internet connection.

Students attending class via Zoom or another online modality are expected to participate in class at the same level as they would in-person. Please use proper online etiquette (e.g., ensuring you are muted when the professor or another student is presenting, refraining from surfing the web during class, responding to the professor if you are called on, etc.).

If our class is operating in a hybrid format or you are attending class via Zoom instead of attending in-person class, you must notify the professor at least 48 hours ahead of time stating you will need a Zoom invite or have a continuous accommodation established with the professor in advanced. This communication with the professor is essential to ensure that she has the necessary technology to accommodate distance-learning students, to ensure that activities can accommodate all teaching modalities, and to ensure all materials are sent/posted on Canvas (as needed).

The professor might record these lectures and post them to Canvas. Thus, please be aware of this policy. No one but the professor is to record the Zoom/online lectures or meetings. Only registered students are permitted to attend Zoom/online lectures or meetings. Students are not permitted to share any online/Zoom course content, share Zoom invite links or passcodes, etc. or anything else that would threaten the safety and security of the class, your peers, or the professor. Unless otherwise noted, lectures will not be recorded when operating our regularly scheduled course modality (i.e., face-to-face). Students can attend via live, streaming Zoom if they cannot physically attend in person. Lecture will only be recorded if and when the professor deems necessary and/or we are unexpectedly mandated to function as an online course. The university positions on course recordings is presented below:

Class sessions may be recorded by the instructor for use by students enrolled in this class. Recordings that contain personally identifiable information or other information subject to FERPA shall not be shared with individuals not enrolled in this course unless appropriate consent is obtained from all relevant students. Class recordings are reserved only for the use of students enrolled in the class and only for educational purposes. Course recordings should not be shared outside of the class in any form without express permission.

Students are responsible for understanding how to operate Zoom and having the proper technology and materials needed to comply with Zoom/online lectures.

Canvas Support

It is your responsibility as a student to understand how to operate Canvas and access/upload assignments. If you need assistance with Canvas, seek out help:

- call the Canvas Support hotline at: 844.214.6949
- visit UT-Tyler's Canvas Help page: <https://www.uttyler.edu/canvas/>
- visit UT-Tyler's Canvas Student Resources page: <https://www.uttyler.edu/canvas/canvas-student-help.php>
- Contact UT-Tyler's Office of Digital Learning for Canvas at: 903.566.6200 or canvas@uttyler.edu

Graduate-Level Work is Expected

Not only does this mean that you are expected to turn in graduate-level work, but that it also must be presented appropriately. All assignments must be typed using Times New Roman or a Sans-Serif font using 12-point size, double-spaced, one-inch margins (with no extra spaces between paragraphs), and proper APA style (7th ed).

You must cite ALL bibliographic sources used in your papers/outlines (using APA format, 7th ed.), within text and on a reference page. For help with APA style and writing, please do not hesitate to visit the Undergraduate Writing Center on campus or online. You may also wish to consult Purdue OWL's website about APA.

Paper/outline headings should include, at minimum, the student name, course name/number, and assignment title. Title pages and other introductory-type pages (e.g., abstracts) never count towards the minimum page length for assignments. Assignments will mostly be turned in via Canvas. Word documents are the only type of documents accepted, unless otherwise noted. Assignments submitted in the wrong format will earn zero points. Always check the assignment instructions, rubrics, and ask the professor if further clarification is needed. Grammar, spelling, punctuation, syntax (GSPS), and neatness count towards your grade, for all assignments.

Elasticity Clause

The professor reserves the right to modify the existing course calendar and assignments. If changes must be made, the professor will notify students as soon as possible. Students are expected to adapt to and abide by any changes. Further, if it is decided that moving to a hybrid or online format is needed, students will be notified immediately of such changes.

Plagiarism

In addition to UT Tyler's Academic Honesty and Student Standards of Academic Conduct policies (listed in forthcoming sections), students are also required to adhere to the following standards:

The "Common Knowledge" Clause. Material does not have to be cited if it is common knowledge—that is, knowledge that most American high school graduates already know (e.g., Humans once painted in caves. Berlin is the capital of Germany.).

The "10% Rule". As a general rule, a college assignment is considered an original work only if the vast majority of text is original. Generally, no more than 10% of a work can be someone else's words, regardless of proper quotes or citation.

Intent. When reviewing a possible case of plagiarism, the student's intent will not be taken into consideration. In other words, an act of plagiarism is plagiarism whether or not the student claims to have intended plagiarism.

Mistakes & Accidents. The possibility that the student mistakenly or accidentally committed plagiarism will not be taken into consideration. I strongly suggest that you discuss your sources with the Writing Center before turning in work.

Appeal to Ignorance. A student's claim to ignorance with concern to policy will never be treated as a valid justification of plagiarism.

Collaboration. Students are not permitted to collaborate on an essay, discussion post, quiz, test, or any written assignment, unless noted otherwise. Having someone proofread your work is fine and encouraged.

Disciplinary Action for Plagiarism. Per departmental policy, the first offense of plagiarism will result in a zero for the assignment. Any additional acts of plagiarism will result in a "F" for the course and possible disciplinary action by the university.

Extra Credit

Over the course of this semester, I may present a few opportunities for extra credit. I want students to have the opportunity to demonstrate their learning and work towards mastering the learning outcomes and skills relevant to this class. Opportunities are noted below and any ad-hoc opportunities (if any) will be posted to Canvas and/or discussed in class:

- If you go to the writing center to get help on your Final Paper (any component) and submit verifiable documentation to the professor, you can earn up to +10 bonus points. You can only earn these bonus points once. November 30 is the last day that this opportunity can be submitted to the professor.

University Policies

Important Covid-19 Information for Classrooms and Laboratories

Students are required to wear face masks covering their nose and mouth, and follow social distancing guidelines, at all times in public settings (including classrooms and laboratories), as specified by Procedures for Fall 2020 Return to Normal Operations. The UT Tyler community of Patriots views adoption of these practices consistent with its Honor Code and a sign of good citizenship and respectful care of fellow classmates, faculty, and staff.

Students who are feeling ill or experiencing symptoms such as sneezing, coughing, or a higher than normal temperature will be excused from class and should stay at home and may join the class remotely. Students who have difficulty adhering to the Covid-19 safety policies for health reasons are also encouraged to join the class remotely. Students needing additional accommodations may contact the Office of Student Accessibility and Resources at University Center 3150, or call (903) 566-7079 or email saroffice@uttyler.edu.

Instructors can ask students who do not comply with these requirements to leave class in the interest of everyone's health and safety. They may also report the incidences of non-compliance to the Campus Assessment, Response, and Evaluation \(CARE\) Team. However, at no point should the instructor or other students put themselves into an unsafe situation while attempting to enforce the face-covering policy.

Recording of Class Sessions

Class sessions may be recorded by the instructor for use by students enrolled in this course. Recordings that contain personally identifiable information or other information subject to FERPA shall not be shared with individuals not enrolled in this course unless appropriate consent is obtained from all relevant students. Class recordings are reserved only for the use of students enrolled in the course and only for educational purposes. Course recordings should not be shared outside of the course in any form without express permission.

UT Tyler Honor Code

Every member of the UT Tyler community joins together to embrace: Honor and integrity that will not allow me to lie, cheat, or steal, nor to accept the actions of those who do. To know and understand the policies that affect your rights and responsibilities as a student at UT Tyler, please follow this link: <http://www.uttyler.edu/wellness/rightsresponsibilities.php>

Campus Carry

We respect the right and privacy of students 21 and over who are duly licensed to carry concealed weapons in this class. License holders are expected to behave responsibly and keep a handgun secure and concealed. More information is available at <http://www.uttyler.edu/about/campus-carry/index.php>

UT Tyler a Tobacco-Free University

All forms of tobacco will not be permitted on the UT Tyler main campus, branch campuses, and any property owned by UT Tyler. This applies to all members of the University community, including students, faculty, staff, University affiliates, contractors, and visitors. Forms of tobacco not permitted include cigarettes, cigars, pipes, water pipes (hookah), bidis, kreteks, electronic cigarettes, smokeless tobacco, snuff, chewing tobacco, and all other tobacco products. There are several cessation programs available to students looking to quit smoking, including counseling, quitlines, and group support. For more information on cessation programs please visit www.uttyler.edu/tobacco-free.

Academic Honesty Policy

Students will adhere to the highest standards of academic honesty. Anyone caught cheating will earn a “0” for that assignment and will be subject to academic and disciplinary action. Plagiarism (the use of written and oral words or ideas of another person, including another student, without the expressed acknowledgment of the speaker’s or writer’s indebtedness to that person) will not be tolerated. This includes the use of papers or other materials previously submitted to instructors in other classes, as well as video and audio recordings. Students caught plagiarizing will fail this class and be subject to academic and disciplinary action. (See next section for University Policy)

Student Standards of Academic Conduct

Disciplinary proceedings may be initiated against any student who engages in scholastic dishonesty, including, but not limited to, cheating, plagiarism, collusion, the submission for credit of any work or materials that are attributable in whole or in part to another person, taking an examination for another person, any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student or the attempt to commit such acts.

- “Cheating” includes, but is not limited to:
 1. copying from another student’s test paper;
 2. using, during a test, materials not authorized by the person giving the test;
 3. failure to comply with instructions given by the person administering the test;
 4. possession during a test of materials which are not authorized by the person giving the test, such as class notes or specifically designed “crib notes”. The presence of textbooks constitutes a violation if they have been specifically prohibited by the person administering the test;
 5. using, buying, stealing, transporting, or soliciting in whole or part the contents of an unadministered test, test key, homework solution, or computer program;
 6. collaborating with or seeking aid from another student during a test or other assignment without authority;
 7. discussing the contents of an examination with another student who will take the examination;
 8. divulging the contents of an examination, for the purpose of preserving questions for use by another, when the instructors has designated that the examination is not to be removed from the examination room or not to be returned or to be kept by the student;

9. substituting for another person, or permitting another person to substitute for oneself to take a course, a test, or any course-related assignment;
 10. paying or offering money or other valuable thing to, or coercing another person to obtain an unadministered test, test key, homework solution, or computer program or information about an unadministered test, test key, home solution or computer program;
 11. falsifying research data, laboratory reports, and/or other academic work offered for credit;
 12. taking, keeping, misplacing, or damaging the property of The University of Texas at Tyler, or of another, if the student knows or reasonably should know that an unfair academic advantage would be gained by such conduct; and
 13. misrepresenting facts, including providing false grades or resumes, for the purpose of obtaining an academic or financial benefit or injuring another student academically or financially.
- “Plagiarism” includes, but is not limited to, the appropriation, buying, receiving as a gift, or obtaining by any means another’s work and the submission of it as one’s own academic work offered for credit.
 - “Collusion” includes, but is not limited to, the unauthorized collaboration with another person in preparing academic assignments offered for credit or collaboration with another person to commit a violation of any section of the rules on scholastic dishonesty.
 - All written work that is submitted will be subject to review by plagiarism software.

The UT-Tyler Writing Center

The Writing Center (<https://www.uttyler.edu/writingcenter/>) provides professional writing tutoring for all students in all disciplines. If you wish to use the Writing Center, you should plan for a minimum of two hour-long tutorials per assignment: the first to provide an initial consultation and drafting plan, and the second to follow up. Be prepared to take an active role in your learning, as you will be asked to discuss your work during your tutorial. While Writing Center tutors are happy to provide constructive criticism and teach effective writing techniques, under no circumstances will they fix, repair, or operate on your paper.

If you go to the writing center to get help on your Final Paper (any component) and submit verifiable documentation to the professor, you can earn up to +10 bonus points. You can only earn these bonus points once. November 30 is the last day that this opportunity can be submitted to the professor.

Disability/Accessibility Services

In accordance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and the ADA Amendments Act (ADAAA) the University of Texas at Tyler offers accommodations to students with learning, physical and/or psychological disabilities. If you have a disability, including a non-visible diagnosis such as a learning disorder, chronic illness, TBI, PTSD, ADHD, or you have a history of modifications or accommodations in a previous educational environment, you are encouraged to visit <https://hood.accessiblelearning.com/UTTyler> and fill out the New Student application.

The Student Accessibility and Resources (SAR) office will contact you when your application has been submitted and an appointment with Cynthia Lowery, Assistant Director of Student Services/ADA Coordinator. For more information, including filling out an application for services, please visit the SAR webpage at <http://www.uttyler.edu/disabilityservices>, the SAR office located in the University Center, #3150 or call 903.566.7079.

Grade Replacement/Forgiveness and Census Date Policies

Students repeating a course for grade forgiveness (grade replacement) must file a Grade Replacement Contract with the Enrollment Services Center (ADM 230) on or before the Census Date (September 4, 2020) of the semester in which the course will be repeated. Grade Replacement Contracts are available in the Enrollment Services Center or at <http://www.uttyler.edu/registrar>. Each semester's Census Date can be found on the Contract itself, on the Academic Calendar, or in the information pamphlets published each semester by the Office of the Registrar.

Failure to file a Grade Replacement Contract will result in both the original and repeated grade being used to calculate your overall grade point average. Undergraduates are eligible to exercise grade replacement for only three course repeats during their career at UT Tyler; graduates are eligible for two grade replacements. Full policy details are printed on each Grade Replacement Contract.

The Census Date (September 4, 2020) is the deadline for many forms and enrollment actions of which students need to be aware. These include:

- Submitting Grade Replacement Contracts, Transient Forms, requests to withhold directory information, approvals for taking courses as Audit, Pass/Fail or Credit/No Credit.
- Receiving 100% refunds for partial withdrawals. (There is no refund for these after the Census Date)

- Schedule adjustments (section changes, adding a new class, dropping without a “W” grade)
- Being reinstated or re-enrolled in classes after being dropped for non-payment
- Completing the process for tuition exemptions or waivers through Financial Aid

State-Mandated Course Drop Policy

Texas law prohibits a student who began college for the first time in Fall 2007 or thereafter from dropping more than six courses during their entire undergraduate career. This includes courses dropped at another 2-year or 4-year Texas public college or university. For purposes of this rule, a dropped course is any course that is dropped after the census date (See Academic Calendar for the specific date).

Exceptions to the 6-drop rule may be found in the catalog. Petitions for exemptions must be submitted to the Enrollment Services Center and must be accompanied by documentation of the extenuating circumstance. Please contact the Enrollment Services Center if you have any questions.

Student Absence due to Religious Observance

Students who anticipate being absent from class due to a religious observance are requested to inform the instructor of such absences by the second-class meeting of the semester.

Accommodations will be negotiated with the student to ensure their religious observance.

Student Absence for University-Sponsored Events and Activities

If you intend to be absent for a university-sponsored event or activity, you (or the event sponsor) must notify the instructor at least two weeks prior to the date of the planned absence. At that time, the instructor will set a date and time when make-up assignments will be completed.

Social Security and FERPA Statement

It is the policy of The University of Texas at Tyler to protect the confidential nature of social security numbers. The University has changed its computer programming so that all students have an identification number. The electronic transmission of grades (e.g., via e-mail) risks violation of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act; grades will not be transmitted electronically.

Emergency Exits and Evacuation

Everyone is required to exit the building when a fire alarm goes off. Follow your instructor’s directions regarding the appropriate exit. If you require assistance during an evacuation, inform your instructor in the first week of class. Do not re-enter the building unless given permission by University Police, Fire department, or Fire Prevention Services.

Tips:

- Where can you access ATLAS.ti software (data analysis, qualitative)?
1) A free-trial version is available at: <https://atlasti.com/free-trial-version/>
This version is limited to ~10 primary documents, 50 codes, etc., but it gives you a good idea of the software and a chance to play around with the software before purchasing.
- Where can you access SPSS software (data analysis, quantitative)?

- 1) If you are on the UT Tyler campus you can find it in practically any student-designated computer station: The library, the Business computer lab, the Nursing Computer lab, even the Health & Kinesiology Computer lab.
- 2) If you are off-campus, you may access it by navigating to one.uttyler.edu; then select the catalog tab; then open the Horizon icon (then go to Desktop); with this icon you may find SPSS and open/use it (analysis speed is compromised).
- 3) if you are off campus seriously consider renting the software to place on your computer (instructor's recommendation; you may rent from major online, rentable textbook companies). If you rent, please make sure you get a decent version of SPSS (20-25) and the right format for your computer (PC or Mac).
