Course Description

“What all such writing has in common is faithfulness to some reality that the writer did not invent—to a shared history, to real people, to actual events, to places one can visit, to facts one can check. [...] One virtue of the term is that the sly little prefix non – implies a promise –that such literature is neither feigned nor counterfeit; it’s answerable not merely to the writer’s imagination but to a world beyond the page, a world that precedes and surrounds and outlasts the act of writing” - Scott Russel Sanders, Touchstone Anthology of Contemporary Creative Nonfiction

In his introduction to the Touchstone Anthology of Contemporary Creative Nonfiction, Scott Russell Sanders suggests that while fiction attempts to "invent" a novel reality, nonfiction provides a "recording" of a lived reality. Accordingly, the nonfiction writer’s job is to bare witness to an event, place, history, or cultural milieu, locating these moments within a wider tapestry of human experience and finding connections between past and present, individual and collective, art and truth. In this course, we will explore the art, craft, and work of creative nonfiction, highlighting specifically the places and environments that house our understanding of history, culture, language, and identity. Furthermore, we will investigate the ethical choices creative nonfiction writers must make in order to truthfully and fairly represent the real-world locations and communities they take as their subjects.

Topics leading our discussion include the following: In what ways might setting speak in our writing? How can we read history and culture into a place? What are the techniques a writer might use to balance an adherence to objective, real-world events, locations, and/or people with their own honest acknowledgment of their personal experiences and subjective perspectives? How do writers ensure that their writing (which stems from individual lived experiences) contains a moral argument which extends beyond the writer's subjective perspective and serves a larger culture or community?

Statement on Appropriate Creative Content

Art is designed to question and interrogate the presuppositions of our everyday experiences. Therefore, transgressions of normative values is an inevitable part of any artistic undertaking. However, please remain tactful and tasteful in all handling of your creative endeavors. Given that this is an academic setting, make sure the topics you choose to write about and the ways in which you discuss these topics maintain basic rules of speech and decorum. In other words, avoid expletives and cruel, offensive, or insensitive material. This being a graduate-level course, I will rely on your judgment and discretion in determining what constitutes cruel and insensitive material.

Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, students will:

- Read, discuss, and analyze a range of creative nonfiction texts with an ear toward purpose, audience, and context;
- Interpret and apply a variety of creative writing strategies to one's own writing;
- Investigate ethical questions of representation in creative nonfiction writing;
- Examine the role of setting/environments within creative nonfiction, considering the relationship between place, history, culture, and identity;
- Develop proficiency with digital mapping platforms to interrogate how we represent environments virtually.

Texts

Weekly readings will be shared on Canvas. Students will not be expected to purchase any textbooks for this class.

Grade Computation

Grading for writing projects will be based on the fulfillment of the following assignments:

Weekly Reading/Discussion Board Responses (40%) — Students will be required to write 10 responses in total, each worth four points.

East Texas Literary Map (Creative Composition) (20%) — Students are invited to write 800-1,000 words about the places that comprise the East Texas region. This assignment also incorporates a digital mapping component, requiring writers to map at least two different locations via Google My Maps. If writers would like to write about three different locations in the East Texas region, then this is also an option (just ensure that the total word count across all entries is a minimum of 800 words and maximum 1,000 words).

Creative Response Project (20%) — Students will be required to write an extensive response to a peer's creative project (2 single-spaced pages, 4 double spaced)

Ethical Self-Reflection Video Essay (20%) — Students will develop a 10-minute video essay that showcases their digital map and reflects upon the ethics of representation in creative nonfiction writing.

Grading

To compute the final course grade, the following point totals are assigned to the standard letter grades of A through F:

A = 90-100 points

B = 80-89 points

C = 70-79 points

D = 60-69 points

F = 59 points and below

Artificial Intelligence Policy

Since this class emphasizes creativity and the creative process, students are prohibited from using artificial intelligence as a substitute for authorship of writing assignments, including the following assignments: discussion board posts, creative composition project, creative response project, and creative writing project. In other words, no work that is generated by AI will be accepted. All major assignments will be submitted through UT Tyler's plagiarism detection software, TurnItIn. Any submission that is reported to have used AI by UT Tyler's AI-generated software, TurnItIn, will be considered plagiarized. Additionally, this software can detect work that has been edited and revised by proofreading programs, such as Grammarly. Therefore, avoid using these proofreading programs when composing your own work. If you have sentence-level challenges, then please make an appointment to speak with me or the Writing Center.

For more information, review the plagiarism policy listed below on the syllabus.

University Position on AI Initiatives:

UT Tyler is committed to exploring and using artificial intelligence (AI) tools as appropriate for the discipline and task undertaken. We encourage discussing AI tools' ethical, societal, philosophical, and disciplinary implications. All uses of AI should be acknowledged as this aligns with our commitment to honor and integrity, as noted in UT Tyler's Honor Code. Faculty and students must not use protected information, data, or copyrighted materials when using any AI tool. Additionally, users should be aware that AI tools rely on predictive models to generate content that may appear correct but is sometimes shown to be incomplete, inaccurate, taken without attribution from other sources, and/or biased. Consequently, an AI tool should not be considered a substitute for traditional approaches to research. You are ultimately responsible for the quality and content of the information you submit. Misusing AI tools that violate the guidelines specified for this course is considered a breach of academic integrity. The student will be subject to disciplinary actions as outlined in UT Tyler's Academic Integrity Policy. For this course, using AI to write papers and respond to quizzes is not permitted in this course at all. I expect all work students submit for this course to be their own. I have carefully designed all assignments and class activities to support your learning. Doing your own work, without human or artificial intelligence assistance, is best for your efforts in mastering course learning objectives. Deviations from these guidelines will be considered a violation of UT Tyler's Honor Code and academic honesty values.

Reading/Discussion Board Response

Your Discussion Board Responses are essential to your progress and participation in this class. There are 10 Discussion Board Responses for the course, each worth 4-percentage points (if you miss more than four Discussion Board Responses, then you will receive an F for your Discussion Board grade). Every student should submit a 300-word post to each Discussion Board as well as respond to two peer posts. Each peer response should be a minimum of 100 words. This makes your weekly Discussion Board responses a total of 500 words.

Each Discussion Board Response should engage the ideas, questions, or concerns introduced in the weekly readings. In order to fully engage the authors you are reading, you will need to include direct quotations from each text to support your claims. When integrating quotations, please include in-text parenthetical citations that identify the author and page number. Punctuate quotations with quotation marks.

Each week, I will offer extended comments on a handful of Discussion Board posts that are reflective of claims, ideas, or struggles that the class as a whole is considering/grappling with. Therefore, it's important that you read the entire Discussion Board thread to better understand and clarify weekly topics and reading questions.

The postings on the discussion board must be focused on the assigned topic. All technical problems associated with the Canvas, including access to discussion boards, passwords, and user IDs, should be directed to the respective departments. The course instructor would not answer any technical questions.

All postings on the discussion board must meet academic and professional standards.

Draft Submission

All drafts will be submitted via Canvas. Emailed assignments will not be accepted.

Late Projects

I will penalize late papers: half of a letter grade (e.g., A to B+) for the first day late; after that, a full letter grade (e.g., A to B).

There may be situations which warrant consideration for exceptions to the late draft policy. For consideration of an exception, you should establish your credibility as a student by engaging in substantive conversation via our Discussion Board and submitting work on time. Then, should a situation occur that hinders you from turning an assignment in on time, you will have a leg to stand on.

Email Policy

Email is the easiest way to contact me. However, etiquette and courtesy in correspondence is important; that is, be rhetorical and think about your audience. Because email is quick and easy, people often do not take the time to formulate emails that will effectively communicate what is desired. When emailing me, please include a subject/title for your email, an opening address (Dear Dr. Proper...), and a closing signature.

I will check my email regularly Mondays-Fridays from 9am-5pm. I expect everyone to check their email at the same frequency. Put simply, you need to check your email regularly Mondays-Fridays from 9am-5pm. If you anticipate inconsistent email access being an issue, please speak with me. You can expect a response from me within 48 hours.

Syllabus Changes

The information contained in the course syllabus, other than the grading criteria and absence and make-up policies, may be subject to change with reasonable advance notice as long as the change is without prejudice to the students.

Withdrawing from Class

Students may withdraw (drop) from this course using the Withdrawal Portal. Withdrawing (dropping) this course can impact your Financial Aid, Scholarships, Veteran Benefits, Exemptions, Waivers, International Student Status, housing, and degree progress. Please speak with your instructors, consider your options, speak with your advisor, and visit the One-Stop Service Center (STE 230) or email enroll@uttyler.edu to get a complete review of your student account and the possible impacts to withdrawing. We want you to make an informed decision. UT Tyler faculty and staff are here for you and often can provide additional support options or assistance.

Make sure to carefully read the implications for withdrawing from a course and the instructions on using the Withdrawal portal.. Texas law prohibits students from dropping more than six courses during their entire undergraduate career*. The six courses dropped includes those from other 2-year or 4-year Texas public colleges and universities. Consider the impact withdrawing from this class has on your academic progress and other areas, such as financial implications. We encourage you to consult your advisor(s) and Enrollment Services for additional guidance. CAUTION #1: Withdrawing before census day does not mean you get a full refund. Please see the Tuition and Fee Refund Schedule. CAUTION #2: All international students must check with the Office of International Programs before withdrawing. All international students are required to enroll full-time for fall and spring terms. CAUTION #3: All UT Tyler Athletes must check with the Athletic Academic Coordinator before withdrawing from a course. CAUTION #4: All veterans or military-affiliated students should consult with the Military and Veterans Success Center.

Artificial Intelligence Statement

UT Tyler is committed to exploring and using artificial intelligence (AI) tools as appropriate for the discipline and task undertaken. We encourage discussing AI tools' ethical, societal, philosophical, and disciplinary implications. All uses of AI should be acknowledged as this aligns with our commitment to honor and integrity, as noted in UT Tyler's Honor Code. Faculty and students must not use protected information, data, or copyrighted materials when using any AI tool. Additionally, users should be aware that AI tools rely on predictive models to generate content that may appear correct but is sometimes shown to be incomplete, inaccurate, taken without attribution from other sources, and/or biased. Consequently, an AI tool should not be considered a substitute for traditional approaches to research. You are ultimately responsible for the quality and content of the information you submit. Misusing AI tools that violate the guidelines specified for this course is considered a breach of academic integrity. The student will be subject to disciplinary actions as outlined in UT Tyler's Academic Integrity Policy. Refer to the About This Course section of the UT Tyler Syllabus Module for specific information on appropriate use of AI in your course(s).

Final Exam Policy

Final examinations are administered as scheduled. If unusual circumstances require that special arrangements be made for an individual student or class, the Dean of the appropriate college, after consultation with the faculty member involved, may authorize an exception to the schedule. Faculty members must maintain student final examination papers for a minimum of three months following the examination date.

Incomplete Grade Policy

If a student, because of extenuating circumstances, is unable to complete all of the requirements for a course by the end of the semester, then the instructor may recommend an Incomplete (I) for the course. The "I" may be assigned in place of a grade only when all of the following conditions are met: (a) the student has been making satisfactory progress in the course; (b) the student is unable to complete all coursework or final exam due to unusual circumstances that are beyond personal control and are acceptable to the instructor, and (c) the student presents these reasons before the time that the final grade roster is due. The semester credit hours for an Incomplete will not be used to calculate the grade point average.

The student and the instructor must submit an Incomplete Form detailing the work required and the time by which the work must be completed to their respective department chair or college dean for approval.

The time limit established must not exceed one year. Should the student fail to meet all of the work for the course within the time limit, then the instructor may assign zeros to the unfinished work, compute the course average for the student, and assign the appropriate grade. If a grade has yet to be assigned within one year, then the Incomplete will be changed to an F, or NC. If the course was initially taken under the CR/NC grading basis, this may adversely affect the student's academic standing.

Grade Appeal Policy

Disputes regarding grades must be initiated within sixty (60) days from the date of receiving the final course grade by filing a Grade Appeal Form with the instructor who assigned the grade. A grade appeal should be used when the student thinks the final course grade awarded does not reflect the grades earned on assessments or follow the grading scale as documented in the syllabus. The student should provide the rationale for the grade appeal and attach supporting document about the grades earned. The form should be sent via email to the faculty member who assigned the grade. The faculty member reviews the rationale and supporting documentation and completes the instruction section of the form. The instructor should return the form to the student, even if a grade change is made at this level. If the student is not satisfied with the decision, the student may appeal in writing to the Chairperson of the department from which the grade was issued. In situations where there is an allegation of capricious grading, discrimination, or unlawful actions, appeals may go beyond the Chairperson to the Dean or the Dean's designee of the college from which the grade was issued, with that decision being final. The Grade Appeal form is found in the Registrar's Form Library.

NOTE: The Grade Appeal Form is different from the Application for Appeal form submitted to the Student Appeals Committee, which does not rule on grade disputes as described in this policy.
