Spring 2026

Instructor: Dr. Tara Propper

Email: Tpropper@uttyler.edu

Office: CAS 236

Office Hours: My office hours will be conducted via Zoom or in-person on M/W/F 11-12:15PM. I am also available to meet via appointment.

Course Description:

This course requires intensive practice in writing about literary, critical, and argumentative texts with an emphasis on close reading and analysis. The course emphasizes the process of writing critical essays.

Required of English majors/minors and recommended for others who wish to develop advanced reading and writing skills.

Learning Outcomes:

By the end of the course, students should be able to:

1. Write in-depth analytical papers using a variety of analytical approaches
2. Read closely a variety of texts, including short story, essay, and literary journalism
3. Use textual and other evidence to support a strong thesis-driven argument
4. Evaluate reading and writing habits to improve those habits

Texts:

There is no course textbook. All readings will be uploaded to Canvas's "Modules" at the beginning of each week.

Assignment Overview:

Quizzes -> 15 points (there are three quizzes, each worth 5 points)

Close Textual Analysis Paper -> 10 points

Genre or Rhetorical Analysis Paper -> 10 points

Research Paper and Presentation -> 30 points (Paper = 15/ Presentation = 15)

Discussion Board Forum -> 20 points

Peer Review Worksheets -> 15 points (there are three PR Worksheets, each worth 5 points)

Close Textual Analysis Paper (10): This assignment tasks you with writing a short paper (500-800 words) that engages in a close textual analysis of Joyce Carol Oates's "Our Wall." In this paper, you will need to identify a central theme or question anchoring Oates's work. Next, you will select a passage from "Our Wall" (no longer than one page, no shorter than one paragraph) to analyze. How might this passage reflect or demonstrate the central theme or question you have identified?

Genre or Rhetorical Analysis Paper (10): While the first assignment asked you to engage in Close Textual Analysis, this assignments tasks you with writing a short Genre Analysis of George Orwell's "Politics and the English Language" OR Rhetorical Analysis of David Foster Wallace's "Remember the Lobster" (500-800 words), depending upon your preference.

Research Paper and Presentation (30 points): For the final assignment, you will bring together the analytic skills you've cultivated throughout the semester to identify a topic for research. This assignment tasks you with writing a 1250-1500 word research inquiry paper based upon one of the readings we've discussed this semester (i.e. Oates's "Our Wall," Orwell's "Politics and the English Language," or Wallace's "Remember the Lobster"). After selecting one of the assigned readings, determine a thesis/focus by considering our class discussions and your previous writing assignments. That is, what do you want to argue, claim, or question about one of the readings we've engaged? Once you've zeroed in on a general focus, conduct research about your text. Select three scholarly secondary sources (i.e. peer-reviewed or editorially-reviewed) that help to support, extend, or refine your thesis. You will be expected to share your findings in a 10-minute video, which you will share with the class.

Peer Review Worksheets and Quizzes (30 points): Because this course emphasizes process-based writing, peer review and process quizzes represent a significant portion of your final grade. Please refer to my weekly announcements and lecture videos for information about deadlines and how to prepare for these assignments.

Discussion Board Response (20): Your Discussion Board Responses are essential to your progress and participation in this class. There are 10 Discussion Board Responses for the course, each worth 2-percentage points (if you miss four Discussion Board Responses, then you will receive an F for your Discussion Board grade). Every student should submit a 300-word post to each Discussion Board as well as respond to two peer posts. Each peer response should be a minimum of 100 words. This makes your weekly Discussion Board responses a total of 500 words.

Each Discussion Board Response should engage the ideas, questions, or concerns introduced in the weekly readings. In order to fully engage the authors you are reading, you will need to include direct quotations from each text to support your claims. When integrating quotations, please include in-text parenthetical citations that identify the author and page number. Punctuate quotations with quotation marks.

Each week, I will offer extended comments on a handful of Discussion Board posts that are reflective of claims, ideas, or struggles that the class as a whole is considering/grappling with. Therefore, it's important that you read the entire Discussion Board thread to better understand and clarify weekly topics and reading questions.

The postings on the discussion board must be focused on the assigned topic. All technical problems associated with the Blackboard, Internet, or library database, including passwords and user IDs, should be directed to the respective departments. The course instructor would not answer any technical questions.

All postings on the discussion board must meet academic and professional standards.

Revision:

Revision is an essential part of the writing process, as the old adage goes, "there is no good writing, there is only good rewriting." Therefore, you may revise your Close Textual Analysis Paper and Genre/Rhetorical Response Paper within one week of receiving your letter grade and my comments.

In addition to revising your paper based on my feedback, you will also need to write a Cover Letter explaining the specific changes you made to your paper and how they account for my notes. Your Cover Letter should be written in full and complete sentences and should not simply list the changes that you made. Instead, explain how your revisions provide a new or different approach into your claims, ideas, or larger organization. You will also need to track/highlight the changes you made to your original document.

Revisions may improve your grade. Grade improvements are dependent on improved structure and substance of the writing. However, grade improvements are not guaranteed. Thus, in order to ensure a grade improvement, you must make substantive revisions.

By substantive revisions, I mean reworking your thesis or framework for exploration; integrating and analyzing quotations; including transition sentences to shore up your organization; including additional evidence to support or challenge claims.

Revisions that will not receive a grade improvement will be those that simply make copy editing changes, such as changing punctuation, deleting sentences on which I have commented, or substituting one word for another. While these are appropriate edits, they should not constitute the entirety of your revision.

Artificial Intelligence Policy:

Since this class focuses on analysis and its application to composing well-researched and critically-sound writing, students are NOT invited to use artificial intelligence to author their writing assignment submissions. However, given the proliferation of AI tools and their application to the research process, this course will explore how to use AI tools to locate scholarly sources. Moreover, throughout the semester, we will consider how to use AI as a peer review partner. Therefore, this course will emphasize the ways in which we can use AI tools to ethically aid in research, while also understanding such technology's strengths and weaknesses with respect to the writing process.

For more information, please review the plagiarism policy listed below on the syllabus.

University Position on AI Initiatives:

UT Tyler is committed to exploring and using artificial intelligence (AI) tools as appropriate for the discipline and task undertaken. We encourage discussing AI tools' ethical, societal, philosophical, and disciplinary implications. All uses of AI should be acknowledged as this aligns with our commitment to honor and integrity, as noted in UT Tyler's Honor Code. Faculty and students must not use protected information, data, or copyrighted materials when using any AI tool. Additionally, users should be aware that AI tools rely on predictive models to generate content that may appear correct but is sometimes shown to be incomplete, inaccurate, taken without attribution from other sources, and/or biased.

Consequently, an AI tool should not be considered a substitute for traditional approaches to research. You are ultimately responsible for the quality and content of the information you submit. Misusing AI tools that violate the guidelines specified for this course is considered a breach of academic integrity. The student will be subject to disciplinary actions as outlined in UT Tyler's Academic Integrity Policy.

For this course, using AI to write papers and respond to quizzes is not permitted in this course at all. I expect all work students submit for this course to be their own. I have carefully designed all assignments and class activities to support your learning. Doing your own work, without human or artificial intelligence assistance, is best for your efforts in mastering course learning objectives. Deviations from these guidelines will be considered a violation of UT Tyler's Honor Code and academic honesty values.

During some research and peer review assignments, we may leverage AI tools to support your learning, allow you to explore how AI tools can be used, and/or better understand their benefits and limitations. Learning how to use AI is an emerging skill, and we will work through the limitations of these evolving systems together. However, AI will be limited to assignments where AI is a critical component of the learning activity. I will always indicate when and where the use of AI tools for this course is appropriate.

Late Papers:

I will penalize late papers: half of a letter grade (e.g., A to B+) for the first day late; after that, a full letter grade (e.g., A to B).

There may be situations which warrant consideration for exceptions to the late draft policy. For consideration of an exception, you should establish your credibility as a student by engaging in substantive conversation via our Discussion Board and submitting work on time. Please contact me at your earliest convenience, so that we can remediate the issue.

Email Policy:

Email is the easiest way to contact me. However, etiquette and courtesy in correspondence is important; that is, be rhetorical and think about your audience. Because email is quick and easy, people often do not take the time to formulate emails that will effectively communicate what is desired. When emailing me, please include a subject/title for your email, an opening address (Dear Dr. Propper...), and a closing signature.

I will check my email regularly Mondays-Fridays from 9am-5pm. I expect everyone to check their email at the same frequency. Put simply, you need to check your email regularly Mondays-Fridays from 9am-5pm. If you anticipate inconsistent email access being an issue, please speak with me. You can expect a response from me within 48 hours.

Per the UTT Email Policy, I will not reply to emails sent from non-UTT email addresses.

Students may withdraw (drop) from this course using the Withdrawal Portal. Withdrawing (dropping) this course can impact your Financial Aid, Scholarships, Veteran Benefits, Exemptions, Waivers, International Student Status, housing, and degree progress. Please speak with your instructors, consider your options, speak with your advisor, and visit the One-Stop Service Center (STE 230) or email enroll@uttyler.edu to get a complete review of your student account and the possible impacts to withdrawing. We want you to make an informed decision. UT Tyler faculty and staff are here for you and often can provide additional support options or assistance. Make sure to carefully read the implications for withdrawing from a course and the instructions on using the Withdrawal portal.. Texas law prohibits students from dropping more than six courses during their entire undergraduate career*. The six courses dropped includes those from other 2-year or 4-year Texas public colleges and universities. Consider the impact withdrawing from this class has on your academic progress and other areas, such as financial implications. We encourage you to consult your advisor(s) and Enrollment Services for additional guidance. CAUTION #1: Withdrawing before census day does not mean you get a full refund. Please see the Tuition and Fee Refund Schedule. CAUTION #2: All international students must check with the Office of International Programs before withdrawing. All international students are required to enroll full-time for fall and spring terms. CAUTION #3: All UT Tyler Athletes must check with the Athletic Academic Coordinator before withdrawing from a course. CAUTION #4: All veterans or military-affiliated students should consult with the Military and Veterans Success Center.

* Students who began college for the first time before 2007 are exempt from this law.

Artificial Intelligence Statement

UT Tyler is committed to exploring and using artificial intelligence (AI) tools as appropriate for the discipline and task undertaken. We encourage discussing AI tools' ethical, societal, philosophical, and disciplinary implications. All uses of AI should be acknowledged as this aligns with our commitment to honor and integrity, as noted in UT Tyler's Honor Code. Faculty and students must not use protected information, data, or copyrighted materials when using any AI tool. Additionally, users should be aware that AI tools rely on predictive models to generate content that may appear correct but is sometimes shown to be incomplete, inaccurate, taken without attribution from other sources, and/or biased. Consequently, an AI tool should not be considered a substitute for traditional approaches to research. You are ultimately responsible for the quality and content of the information you submit. Misusing AI tools that violate the guidelines specified for this course is considered a breach of academic integrity. The student will be subject to disciplinary actions as outlined in UT Tyler's Academic Integrity Policy. Refer to the About This Course section of the UT Tyler Syllabus Module for specific information on appropriate use of AI in your course(s).

Final Exam Policy

Final examinations are administered as scheduled. If unusual circumstances require that special arrangements be made for an individual student or class, the Dean of the appropriate college, after consultation with the faculty member involved, may authorize an exception to the schedule. Faculty members must maintain student final examination papers for a minimum of three months following the examination date.

Incomplete Grade Policy

If a student, because of extenuating circumstances, is unable to complete all of the requirements for a course by the end of the semester, then the instructor may recommend an Incomplete (I) for the course. The "I" may be assigned in place of a grade only when all of the following conditions are met: (a) the student has been making satisfactory progress in the course; (b) the student is unable to complete all coursework or final exam due to unusual circumstances that are beyond personal control and are acceptable to the instructor, and (c) the student presents these reasons before the time that the final grade roster is due. The semester credit hours for an Incomplete will not be used to calculate the grade point average.

The student and the instructor must submit an Incomplete Form detailing the work required and the time by which the work must be completed to their respective department chair or college dean for approval.

The time limit established must not exceed one year. Should the student fail to meet all of the work for the course within the time limit, then the instructor may assign zeros to the unfinished work, compute the course average for the student, and assign the appropriate grade. If a grade has yet to be assigned within one year, then the Incomplete will be changed to an F, or NC. If the course was initially taken under the CR/NC grading basis, this may adversely affect the student's academic standing.

Grade Appeal Policy

Disputes regarding grades must be initiated within sixty (60) days from the date of receiving the final course grade by filing a Grade Appeal Form with the instructor who assigned the grade. A grade appeal should be used when the student thinks the final course grade awarded does not reflect the grades earned on assessments or follow the grading scale as documented in the syllabus. The student should provide the rationale for the grade appeal and attach supporting document about the grades earned. The form should be sent via email to the faculty member who assigned the grade. The faculty member reviews the rationale and supporting documentation and completes the instruction section of the form. The instructor should return the form to the student, even if a grade change is made at this level. If the student is not satisfied with the decision, the student may appeal in writing to the Chairperson of the department from which the grade was issued. In situations where there is an allegation of capricious grading, discrimination, or unlawful actions, appeals may go beyond the Chairperson to the Dean or the Dean's designee of the college from which the grade was issued, with that decision being final. The Grade Appeal form is found in the Registrar's Form Library.

NOTE: The Grade Appeal Form is different from the Application for Appeal form submitted to the Student Appeals Committee, which does not rule on grade disputes as described in this policy.
