Stuart Stephenson joined the Dallas Symphony Orchestra as principal trumpet at the beginning of the 2022-2023 season. Previously, Stuart was the principal trumpet of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, where he played from 2013-2022. He has also been a guest musician with the Philadelphia Orchestra, Los Angeles Philharmonic, New York Philharmonic, National Symphony Orchestra and the Kansas City Symphony, among others.

Stuart is on faculty at the Aspen Music Festival and School, as well as at Southern Methodist University, and has performed at the Sun Valley Summer Symphony, Grand Teton Music Festival and Mainly Mozart Festival in San Diego. Stuart also maintains a private studio in Dallas as well as a masterclass series throughout Texas.

Stuart holds a bachelor's degree from The Juilliard School and a master's degree from Northwestern University. Stephenson's notable teachers include Barbara Butler, Charlie Geyer, Chris Martin, Tom Rolfs, Tom Cupples, Adel Sanchez, Raymond Mase and Mark Gould.

Elena Daughtery, originally from the Czech Republic, is a lecturer and collaborative pianist at the University of Texas in Tyler. Prior to this appointment she served as a full-time accompanist and instructor of class piano at Northwestern State University of Louisiana (2013-2016), Conservatory of Bratislava, Slovakia (2011-2012) and was an adjunct instructor/collaborative pianist at Northwestern State University of Louisiana (2008-2011). Mrs. Daughtery earned her Bachelor of Music and Master of Music from the Northwestern State University of Louisiana as well as Master of Business Administration specializing in Human Resources Management from Louisiana State University in Shreveport. Her teachers include prof. Juraj Masinda, prof. Peter Cerman, Dr. Mark Zeltser and Dr. Nikita Fitenko.

Mrs. Daughtery is a very active performer in east Texas and Louisiana. She premiered several pieces by Louisiana and Texas composers in collaboration with many of her colleagues. In 2021 her joint arrangement of Un Bal by Hector Berlioz for Trumpet and piano (together with Dr. Jeremy McBain) was published by Balquhiddy Music. Mrs. Daughtery accompanies the Concert Chorale and Patriot Singers at UT Tyler. She also collaborated with the Cantori; Tyler Civic Chorale and served as a rehearsal accompanist for the East Texas Symphony Orchestra Chorus.

Dr. Jeremy McBain teaches applied trumpet, brass chamber music, and brass methods at the University of Texas at Tyler. Prior to his appointment, he taught at Eastern Illinois University, Millikin University (IL), and Saint Mary's College (IN). McBain is also active as a freelance trumpeter in Northeast Texas. He joined the Texarkana Symphony as principal trumpet in fall the 2016 and also performs with the Rose City Brass Quintet. McBain has also performed with the Bach Society of Houston, East Texas Symphony, Shreveport Symphony, Baroque Artists of Champaign (IL), Michigan Chamber Brass, and the State Symphony Orchestra of Mexico.

McBain was granted the Doctor of Musical Arts degree from the University of Illinois in 2012. His doctoral thesis is entitled: "The Role of the Cornet à Pistons in the Early Symphonic Works of Hector Berlioz," which he presented at the 2016 International Trumpet Guild Conference in Anaheim and College Music Society South Central Conference in 2021. McBain earned his Master of Music and Bachelor of Arts in Music from the University of Michigan and the University of Houston. His former teachers include James Austin, Charles Daval, and Ronald Romm. Outside of performing and teaching, McBain enjoys time biking and hiking with his wife Katie and sons Malcolm and Colin.

We would like to thank our sponsors of the 1st Annual Trumpet Day at UT Tyler!
