1 Description

Economics is the study of how individuals and society choose to allocate their limited resources. This course provides an introduction to microeconomics, which analyzes the behavior of consumers and producers and the structure and performance of markets. In this course, we will study the basic economic problem of scarcity and the implications for specialization and trade. In addition, we will study the behavior of consumers and producers in a competitive economy and how markets determine the allocation of resources. Finally, we will apply the material to investigate how government policy affects markets and the performance of the economy.

Learning Outcomes: At the successful completion of this course, the students will be able to

- i. Understand the basic economic problem and how it relates to the notions of scarcity and efficiency.
- ii. Understand how markets work and how demand and supply determine the market equilibrium and the allocation of resources.
- iii. Apply economic analysis to understand consumer and producer behavior in competitive markets.
- iv. Apply demand-and-supply analysis to determine how changes in economic conditions affect the market equilibrium.
- v. Apply the material to investigate how government policy affects markets and the performance of the economy.

The students will learn the material by reading the textbook, viewing online presentations, participating in the online classroom sessions, and completing a number of assignments. The comprehension of the material will be measured by the performance of the students on the assignments and examinations.

2 Prerequisites

There are no formal academic prerequisites for this course.

a. Textbook

The required textbook for the course is Principles of Economics by Asarta and Butters (McGraw-Hill). You are required to purchase the “online course package” which includes (i) an electronic version of the textbook and (ii) the Connect learning system. You will be using the Connect learning system to access the textbook and complete the online assignments. For more information, go to the Getting Started section in Canvas.

b. Mathematics

Mathematics is a powerful tool for economic analysis, but in this course I will present the material in a non-technical form, based mostly on graphical analysis and intuitive explanations.

3 Structure of the course

I will dedicate as much time to the course as necessary. The material in the course is closely related to my research and teaching interests and I intend to make this course a fun and productive experience for you.

a. Online

This is an online course and you will access the material using Canvas and the Connect learning system.

Canvas

This will be the primary way to access the material in the course. The material will be organized in weekly learning modules describing the material to read in your textbook and the assignments for the week. In addition, I will post here additional material such as video lectures or demonstration problems.

Connect Learning System

This is where you will access the textbook for the course and complete the required assignments and examinations. For more information, read the Getting Started section in Canvas.

Recording of Lectures: There will be optional synchronous lectures. I will record the lectures for use by the students enrolled in the course. Class recordings are reserved only for the use of students enrolled in the course and only for educational purposes. Course recordings should not be shared outside of the course in any form without express permission.

b. Grades

Your grade for the course will be determined by your performance in the assignments and examinations.

i. Examinations

There will be THREE examinations during the semester. Your performance on each examination will determine 20% of your grade. The examinations will generally consist of problems similar to the problems in your textbook and in the assignments. I will provide you with more information about the examinations later in the course

ii. Assignments

A number of online assignments will be distributed during the semester. There will be HOMEWORK assignments and QUIZ assignments:

- i. The HOMEWORK assignments will be graded based only on completing the assignment, and to get full credit you simply need to complete the assignment on time. Your performance on the practice assignments will determine 20% of your grade.
- ii. The QUIZ assignments will be graded based on how well you answer the questions, and to get full credit your work must be correct and you must complete the assignment on time. Your performance on the homework assignments will determine 20% of your grade

Table with Grade Policy

Examinations
Exam I	20%
Exam II	20%
Exam III	20%

Grade Replacement/Forgiveness and Census Date Policies

Students repeating a course for grade forgiveness (grade replacement) must file a Grade Replacement Contract with the Enrollment Services Center (ADM 230) on or before the Census Date of the semester in which the course will be repeated. Grade Replacement Contracts are available in the Enrollment Services Center or at <http://www.uttyler.edu/registrar>. Each semester's Census Date can be found on the Contract itself, on the Academic Calendar, or in the information pamphlets published each semester by the Office of the Registrar. Failure to file a Grade Replacement Contract will result in both the original and repeated grade being used to calculate your overall grade point average. Undergraduates are eligible to exercise grade replacement for only three course repeats during their career at UT Tyler; graduates are eligible for two grade replacements. Full policy details are printed on each Grade Replacement Contract.

The Census Date is the deadline for many forms and enrollment actions of which students need to be aware. These include:

- Submitting Grade Replacement Contracts, Transient Forms, requests to withhold directory information, approvals for taking courses as Audit, Pass/Fail or Credit/No Credit.
- Receiving 100% refunds for partial withdrawals. (There is no refund for these after the Census Date)
- Schedule adjustments (section changes, adding a new class, dropping without a "W" grade)
- Being reinstated or re-enrolled in classes after being dropped for non-payment
- Completing the process for tuition exemptions or waivers through Financial Aid

State-Mandated Course Drop Policy

Texas law prohibits a student who began college for the first time in Fall 2007 or thereafter from dropping more than six courses during their entire undergraduate career. This includes courses dropped at another 2-year or 4-year Texas public college or university. For purposes of this rule, a dropped course is any course that is dropped after the census date (See Academic Calendar for the specific date). Exceptions to the 6-drop rule may be found in the catalog. Petitions for exemptions must be submitted to the Enrollment Services Center and must be accompanied by documentation of the extenuating circumstance. Please contact the Enrollment Services Center if you have any questions.
