Course Catalog Description:

Students will study various theories of personality. The theories covered in this course will include those that originate from a number of important traditions in psychology (viz., analytic, phenomenological, field, psychometric, biophysical, and behavioristic). Factors that shape personality and the forces that help people behave consistently from one situation to the next will be critically examined. Students will learn how to identify and explain personality characteristics and their functions in a person's life.

Student Learning Outcomes: As a result of this course, the successful student will:

Achieve content knowledge of how, when, and why different personality characteristics develop, as well as how these characteristics influence a person across his or her lifespan. The student will also develop skills to critically read, analyze, and interpret research findings in psychology, and to apply those theories to real-world experiences. The purpose of this course is to provide an introduction to the scientific study of how and why personality influences behavior, cognition, emotion, motivation, perception, and values. The format of the course is online lecture notes, online videos and activities, and writing projects such that students will have an opportunity to actively engage the material covered in the course.

Quizzes: Quizzes will be completed online. There will be thirteen non-cumulative quizzes administered online throughout the semester. Each quiz is worth 29 points for a total of 377 points. Quizzes cover the assigned readings and lecture material for that week. In the event that you miss one of the regularly-scheduled online quizzes or discussions, you will be given an opportunity to replace it by taking an online cumulative final quiz at the end of the semester. If your final grade is lower than expected, it will not count against you. Grades will be posted immediately after completing each exam. Sources of additional extra credit may be available through study participation, depending on availability.

Discussion Board Instructions

Each week, you will participate in an online discussion board to reflect on the assigned readings and lectures. The purpose is to encourage critical thinking, application of theories, and peer-to-peer learning.

Requirements:

1. Initial Post

- Length: ~250 words
- Content: Respond to the weekly prompt provided by the instructor.
- Integration: Reference course readings or lecture material (cite informally, e.g., “according to Chapter 4...”).
- Deadline: Submit by Friday at 11:59 PM (CT).

2. Peer Response

- Length: ~100 words
- Content: Reply to at least one classmate’s post with a substantive comment (agree/disagree with explanation, add an example, raise a thoughtful question).
- Deadline: Submit by Sunday at 11:59 PM (CT).

Grading (10 points per week):

- 6 points = Quality of initial post (meets length, engages with prompt, ties to readings/lectures).
- 3 points = Quality of peer response (substantive and respectful, not just “I agree”).
- 1 point = Timeliness (posted by deadlines).

Late Work: Posts made after the deadlines will not receive full credit, as discussions depend on timely participation. Discussions will close one day after the due date, and will not be reopened.

Policy on Generative AI Tools (e.g., ChatGPT)

Generative AI tools such as ChatGPT can be valuable for brainstorming, exploring perspectives, and refining ideas. However, they also raise important concerns about academic integrity and critical thinking. In this course, you may use AI tools only in the following ways:

- Permitted Uses
 - Brainstorming or generating possible approaches to discussion prompts or assignments

- Clarifying difficult concepts or summarizing readings (as a study aid, not a substitute)
- Checking grammar, clarity, or style in your own writing
- Prohibited Uses
 - Submitting AI-generated text as your own original work (e.g., discussion board posts, quiz responses, or assignments)
 - Using AI to produce full drafts of assignments or assessments
 - Relying on AI in place of engaging with assigned readings, lectures, or discussions
- Disclosure Requirement

If you use an AI tool in a permitted way, you must include a brief AI Usage Note at the end of your work (e.g., “Used ChatGPT to brainstorm examples of trait theory applications”). If you used a specific prompt, you should include the prompt as well.
- Academic Integrity

Any use of AI that violates the above rules will be considered academic misconduct, just as plagiarism or unauthorized collaboration would be. If you are unsure whether a particular use of AI is appropriate, ask the instructor before submitting your work.

Grade Replacement/Forgiveness and Census Date Policies

Students repeating a course for grade forgiveness (grade replacement) must file a Grade Replacement Contract with the Enrollment Services Center (ADM 230) on or before the Census Date of the semester in which the course will be repeated. Grade Replacement Contracts are available in the Enrollment Services Center or at <http://www.uttyler.edu/registrar>. Each semester's Census Date can be found on the Contract itself, on the Academic Calendar, or in the information pamphlets published each semester by the Office of the Registrar.

Failure to file a Grade Replacement Contract will result in both the original and repeated grade being used to calculate your overall grade point average. Undergraduates are eligible to exercise grade replacement for only three course repeats during their career at UT Tyler; graduates are eligible for two grade replacements. Full policy details are printed on each Grade Replacement Contract.

The Census Date is the deadline for many forms and enrollment actions of which students need to be aware. These include:

- Submitting Grade Replacement Contracts, Transient Forms, requests to withhold directory information, approvals for taking courses as Audit, Pass/Fail or Credit/No Credit.
- Receiving 100% refunds for partial withdrawals. (There is no refund for these after the Census Date)
- Schedule adjustments (section changes, adding a new class, dropping without a “W” grade)
- Being reinstated or re-enrolled in classes after being dropped for non-payment
- Completing the process for tuition exemptions or waivers through Financial Aid

State-Mandated Course Drop Policy

Texas law prohibits a student who began college for the first time in Fall 2007 or thereafter from dropping more than six courses during their entire undergraduate career. This includes courses dropped at another 2-year or 4-year Texas public college or university. For purposes of this rule, a dropped course is any course that is dropped after the census date (See Academic Calendar for the specific date).

Exceptions to the 6-drop rule may be found in the catalog. Petitions or exemptions must be submitted to the Enrollment Services

Center and must be accompanied by documentation of the extenuating circumstance. Please contact the Enrollment Services Center if you have any questions.
