REQUIRED TEXTBOOKS AND MATERIALS

Kress, V. E., Paylo, M. J., & Stargell, N. A. (2019). Counseling children and adolescents. Pearson: NY.

- Additional readings and resources will be posted in Canvas.

TEACHING STRATEGIES

This is a face-to-face course. There are weekly mandatory class meetings with the instructor, and you are expected to attend all classes as outlined in the course schedule. Traditional face-to-face instruction allows for approximately 42 hours of in-class time and an equal amount of time for homework, readings, and assignments. Therefore, the course is designed to require approximately 84 hours of clock time to complete. Learning will occur in the context of lecture, class discussions, interactive learning experiences, and reading. Instructors will facilitate the collaborative development of an invitational learning context. The quality of students' learning experience depends on their motivation to: (a) prepare thoroughly, (b) be inquisitive, (c) think reflectively, and (d) engage in in-class learning experiences. Throughout the class students will have the opportunity to engage in role plays and other experience to help students practice the methods of counseling young people.

Canvas (<https://www.utt Tyler.edu/canvas/>)

Canvas will serve as the overall structure and launching pad for all our activities in this course. In Canvas, you will find announcements, assignments, course schedule, discussion boards, links to outside activities and so on. Within each module folder, the activities necessary to successfully complete that module are described in great detail. It is students' responsibility to examine each module and get in touch with the instructor immediately if they are not clear about the requirements prior to assignment due dates.

COURSE POLICIES

INFORMED CONSENT STATEMENT

Faculty members are dedicated to the educational, personal, and professional growth and development of our students. Faculty are in a unique position as instructors who assess students' academic skills and members of the counseling profession with an ethical obligation to the profession. In both roles, it is the faculty's responsibility to evaluate student competencies within the realm of professional counseling and to address any concerns regarding students' professional competence. As such, please be aware of the following information regarding this course:

- The counseling profession encourages counselors to fully integrate their own personal attributes and identity, as well as their strengths and weaknesses, into therapeutic processes. Therefore, self-awareness is critical because this knowledge relates to being an effective therapist.
- There will be an emphasis in many courses on self-awareness/exploration, as well as giving feedback to peers. Although uncomfortable at times, we encourage students to be open to self-exploration since we frequently ask clients to do so.
- At times, the class may include experiential and self-awareness exercises. It is important to distinguish between sharing one's emotional reactions to such experiential class activities and revealing information about one's personal history. Self-disclosure of personal history is not required to successfully pass any course; however, students may be expected to share their reactions to experiential activities.
- Self-disclosures will not be used as a basis for grading in any course. However, should a student disclose information indicating impairment or the potential for harm to clients, the faculty member may take appropriate action in accordance with the ACA Code of Ethics (2014).
- Students often experience personal growth as they progress through the program. However, the courses are not meant to be a means of personal therapy. The focus in classes is on self-awareness and the enhancement and growth of necessary counselor skills.
- Please be aware that, although all instructors strive to create a safe environment for any personal disclosures, we cannot guarantee that other students will maintain the confidentiality of any such disclosures that are made.
- It is each student's responsibility to determine an appropriate level of self-disclosure (i.e., the content and depth of personal information that you share) in experiential learning activities.

ATTENDANCE POLICY

Student attendance in this class is critical. It is expected that students will attend all classes. If there is an extenuating circumstance or emergency that will require you to miss a class, you should notify the professor ahead of time. You may then be asked to write a letter, and/or provide documentation that substantiates the extenuating circumstances which prevented you from coming to class. The instructor will then decide if the absence is excusable. In case of missed class students will lose participation and professionalism points. After the first excused missed class, along with missing participation and professionalism points, for each missed class students will lose an additional 10 points from their overall grade. All absences must be discussed with the instructor prior to the class missed. Missing more than one class may result in an “IP” or “NC” for the class unless otherwise determined by the instructor.

Class Punctuality - Students are expected to be in their seats and fully prepared to engage in class activities at the scheduled start time, demonstrating the professionalism and respect for others that is essential in clinical mental health counseling and other helping professions. Students who are consistently late and/or disruptive at the beginning of class will have points deducted from their participation grade. Frequent tardiness can accumulate and be counted as an absence. See above attendance policy.

Participation - Participation is an essential component of this course. Students are expected to come to class fully prepared to actively participate in class activities and discussions. During class students will be provided with opportunities for dialogue, questions, and to engage in activities related to course content. To receive full participation points for this course, students will need to stay engaged during class time and regularly participate in class discussion and activities.

LATE WORK

All assignments are due according to the timeline established by the syllabus, unless otherwise noted by the instructor. In the case of extenuating circumstances, students will be expected to communicate proactively with the faculty member. Without communicating and receiving approval from your instructor, all assignments coming in any time after the due date/time will be reduced by 10% per day they are late.

ETHICAL BEHAVIOR AND PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

Professional conduct is expected of all students in the performance of counseling and related activities. Students must adhere to the ACA code of ethics, the laws governing counselors (LPCs) in Texas, and the policies of the UTT psychology and counseling department. It is assumed that you have completed the ethics course prior to this class and that you know the ACA code of ethics, understand the concept of “standard of care/practice”, and are familiar with Texas laws governing your obligation as a mandated reporter. If you are unfamiliar with these basics, inform the instructor during the first class session. Required remedial activities, a grade of incomplete, a failing grade, or dismissal from the class are potential consequences for engaging in unprofessional behavior. Students are expected to have read and be familiar with the UT Tyler CMHC program Practicum & Internship Manual.

ZOOM PROFESSIONAL BEHAVIORS

Students should attend online zoom synchronous classes in the same manner that they would attend in-person classes. Students should be professionally dressed and sitting in an appropriate position for learning. Students must keep their video cameras on for the entirety of class. Students are not permitted to be engaging in other activities while attending class (e.g., driving a car, working a job, attending an appointment, etc.). Students will need to find a quiet and private location in which to attend class. It is also essential that students are able to secure a good internet connection.

USE OF TECHNOLOGY

Cell phones are to be turned off or put in silent mode during class. Cell phones should not be visible during class, so please keep them in your pants, purse, backpack, etc. If you are experiencing an emergency or extenuating circumstance where you need to check your phone during class, please inform me of this before class begins. Please be respectful and do not send or read text messages during class. Students who choose to use a laptop computer should only do so for taking notes. Students who use laptop computers are prohibited from (a) surfing the internet, (b) checking email, and (c) working on other assignments during class. If the instructor becomes aware of a student using their laptop for any reason other than taking notes, they may ask that student to cease bringing their computer into the classroom.

Given the potential for discussion of sensitive content during class, recording of class is strictly prohibited except where accommodations are arranged through SAR. Additionally, students are strictly prohibited from going “live” on social media platforms such as TikTok during class. The ability to uphold confidentiality is a core tenet of professional counseling as supported by the ACA Code of Ethics. As a counselor-in-training, you are expected to demonstrate the ability to honor confidentiality.

COMMUNICATION POLICY

University policy requires that all e-mail correspondence between students and instructor be done via the Patriot account. Check your Patriot E-Mail frequently. Announcements pertaining to class or departmental business will be sent to the student’s Patriot account. In accordance with university policy your instructor will respond only to student correspondence sent via Patriot E-mail. Please do not contact the instructor via the Canvas messaging system. My email address is jspears@uttyler.edu. Do not send emails to any other email address, as I will not receive them.

ONLINE COMMUNICATION

Part of your preparation as a professional counselor is the ability to communicate with future colleagues and clients clearly and professionally. All written communication (e.g., emails, discussion board postings, etc.) that takes place within this course must adhere to the rules of written etiquette. Please remember that you are in a graduate program and are earning a professional degree, therefore please respond to your instructor and your colleagues in a professional manner. Please refrain from using texting language (i.e. lol, btw, omg) and/or emoticons (i.e. :- / , :-) in your discussion responses and in communication with your instructor and colleagues. Other things to keep in mind:

- Open your email with a salutation (e.g., Hi, Hello, Dear Dr. or Ms. X) and finish with a closing (e.g., Best, Regards, Thank you, your name). Introductory emails should address your instructor more formally (e.g., Dear Dr. Spears).
- Use complete sentences and avoid jargon, especially text-type words (e.g. C U). This is especially important when sending messages from mobile devices.
- Be aware that using capital letters to express yourself is considered SHOUTING.
- Maintain a professional tone.
- Avoid sending email in anger or frustration. Walk away from the computer and wait at least 24 hours. Threats or attacks towards faculty or peers, even via written communication, will not be tolerated.
- Whether in writing or in person, derogatory or prejudiced remarks are still considered bad manners and discussion that contains such comments will be addressed by the instructor.
- Please refrain from sending junk mail, forwards, or advertisements to the class.

DIVERSITY STATEMENT

Students are expected to be sensitive to individual and cultural differences and to treat one another with respect during their experience in this course. Sensitivity to gender, race, ethnicity, ability, and sexuality is expected and disrespectful language and/or behavior will not be tolerated.

The American Counseling Association has explicit policies, standards, and ethical guidelines regarding diversity issues. In this class, you will be expected to reflect the standards and ethics of the counseling profession, especially in the area of diversity. Any use of written or verbal language should be consistent with the respect and tolerance that are the cornerstone of the counseling profession and should reflect the ACA Human Rights Committee’s 1987 statement on tolerance, which states:

In order to guarantee that each individual is free to pursue his/her potential, each member of ACA is charged to (a) engage in ongoing examination of his/her own attitudes, feelings, stereotypic views, perceptions and behaviors that might have prejudicial or limiting impact on others; (b) contribute to an increased sensitivity on the part of other individuals, groups or institutions to the barriers to opportunity imposed by discrimination; (c) advocate equal rights for all individuals through concerted personal, professional, and political activity.

PROFESSIONALISM STATEMENT

The counseling program at UT Tyler leads directly to certification, licensure, and professional practice in the field of counseling. All students are required to know and adhere to their respective professional associations (i.e., ACA Code of Ethics, 2014). Ethical violations may result in failure of the course and possibly dismissal from the program.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS

Participation and Professionalism (10 points)

Learning is a dynamic social process. In-class exercises are designed to provide practice and be a review of the material that will be covered in readings and in class. They include a number of opportunities for the assessment of self and classmates. Active participation is required to gain practice with assessment and skills related to assessments reviewed in class.

Participation in discussion and class activities is an important component of learning. Active, meaningful engagement with your peers is expected. Texting, web surfing, and other activities which preclude the ability to be fully present with the class are strongly discouraged. Please be on time, and complete reading assignments by their due date. Students who are consistently late at the beginning of class will have points deducted from their participation grade. Professionalism represents a way of being made up of appearance, manner, communication, interacting, attitudes, approach, skills, and openness to grow. As part of this class, students are expected to demonstrate professionalism during in person and online interactions with their peers and the instructor.

You are expected to be fully engaged in the topic of assessment, invested in your own learning and the learning of others, and eager to participate. Concretely, active participation and professionalism means:

- Reading required materials and being prepared to work
- Demonstrating knowledge of reading assignment material
- Actively taking part in class activities
- Interacting well with peers
- Showing respect and courtesy toward peers and instructor
- Exhibiting a professional demeanor
- Actively engaging in learning opportunities
- Demonstrating critical thinking
- Exhibiting growth in content knowledge and skills
- Contributing to a professional climate

Midterm and Final Exams (30 points each)

The class includes a midterm and final exam. Exams include multiple choice, true/false, matching, and short answer response questions. Material will derive from the required reading (Kress et al., 2019).

Special Topic Project: Counseling Theory Application in Child & Adolescent Counseling (30 points)

This project is a unique opportunity for you to deepen your understanding of counseling theories as presented in PSYC 5330: Counseling Children and Adolescents. Throughout this project, you'll gain practical experience by creating a counseling intake form, preparing a parent consultation, and developing a child therapy session.

Each group will receive a case scenario involving a child or adolescent whose parents are seeking counseling, which will guide your project. This collaborative experience will culminate in a presentation and role play, giving you a chance to showcase your chosen counseling theory in action.

Project Overview: Students will be divided into groups and will be assigned a counseling theory from the course text. Each group will follow these steps:

1. Theory Selection

- a. A theoretical approach to counseling children and adolescents will be assigned from the theories explored in class. Examples of theories may include Cognitive Behavioral Therapy, Person-Centered Therapy, Gestalt Therapy, Adlerian Therapy, Solution-Focused Therapy, etc.

2. Case Scenario

- a. Each group will receive a case scenario describing a child or adolescent facing specific challenges, prompting the parents to seek counseling. Use this scenario as a foundation for designing a customized intake form, parent consultation, and child therapy session plan tailored to the child's needs.

3. Developing a Counseling Intake Form

- a. Design an intake form specifically for parents seeking counseling for their child. Your intake form should include:
 - o The child's developmental and family background
 - o Presenting concerns and goals for therapy (based on the case scenario)
 - o An assessment of the child's strengths and areas of concern in line with the selected theory
 - o Additional intake questions that reflect the theoretical approach or level of directiveness discussed in class.

4. Parent Consultation Preparation

- a. Prepare a mock parent consultation session using the case scenario. Outline how you'd introduce the counseling process to the parents, discuss your theoretical approach, and set therapeutic goals. Include key talking points on how this approach can uniquely benefit the child's needs.

5. Child Therapy Session Plan

- a. Design a 20-minute session plan for the hypothetical child client, integrating theory-specific techniques and activities. Create any materials, handouts, or visual aids to demonstrate the theory's application in child counseling.

6. Presentation

- a. Each group will present their project to the class, which should include:
 - A brief overview of the chosen theory, emphasizing its relevance for children and adolescents
 - An Explanation of you intake form and consultation process
 - A class activity that parallels how you might engage the child.

Additional assignment expectations (rubric, documentation, etc.) is available on Canvas.

During the semester, you will have opportunities to earn up to 100 points for your final grade. Grading is on the following scale: 100%-90% = A; 89%-80% = B; 79%-70% = C; and 69% or less = F

Artificial Intelligence in this Course

UT Tyler is committed to exploring and using artificial intelligence (AI) tools as appropriate for the discipline and task undertaken. We encourage discussing AI tools' ethical, societal philosophical, and disciplinary implications. All uses of AI should be acknowledged as this aligns with our commitment to honor and integrity, as noted in UT Tyler's Honor Code. Faculty and students must not use protected information, data, or copyrighted materials when using any AI tool. Additionally, users should be aware that AI tools rely on predictive models to generate content that may appear correct but is sometimes shown to be incomplete, inaccurate, taken without attribution from other sources, and/or biased. Consequently, an AI tool should not be considered a substitute for traditional approaches to research. You are ultimately responsible for the quality and content of the information you submit. Misusing AI tools that violate the guidelines specified for this course (see below) is considered a breach of academic integrity. The student will be subject to disciplinary actions as outlined in UT Tyler's Academic Integrity Policy.

For this course, you can use AI programs (ChatGPT, Copilot, etc.). These programs can be powerful tools for learning and other productive pursuits, including completing assignments in less time, helping you generate new ideas, or serving as a personalized learning tool. However, your ethical responsibilities as a student remain the same. You must follow UT Tyler's Honor Code and uphold the highest standards of academic honesty. Students are strictly forbidden to pass off work generated by AI as their own. This applies to all uncited or improperly cited content, whether created by a human or in collaboration with an AI tool. If you use an AI tool to develop content for an assignment, you must cite the tool's contribution to your work.

UT Tyler Honor Code

Every member of the UT Tyler community joins together to embrace: Honor and integrity that will not allow me to lie, cheat, or steal, nor to accept the actions of those who do.

Grade Replacement/Forgiveness and Census Date Policies

Students repeating a course for grade forgiveness (grade replacement) must file a Grade Replacement Contract with the Enrollment Services Center (ADM 230) on or before the Census Date of the semester in which the course will be repeated. Grade Replacement Contracts are available in the Enrollment Services Center or at <http://www.uttyler.edu/registrar>. Each semester's Census Date can be found on the Contract itself, on the Academic Calendar, or in the information pamphlets published each semester by the Office of the Registrar.

Failure to file a Grade Replacement Contract will result in both the original and repeated grade being used to calculate your overall grade point average. Undergraduates are eligible to exercise grade replacement for only three course repeats during their career at UT Tyler; graduates are eligible for two grade replacements. Full policy details are printed on each Grade Replacement Contract.

The Census Date is the deadline for many forms and enrollment actions of which students need to be aware. These include:

- Submitting Grade Replacement Contracts, Transient Forms, requests to withhold directory information, approvals for taking courses as Audit, Pass/Fail or Credit/No Credit.
- Receiving 100% refunds for partial withdrawals. (There is no refund for these after the Census Date)
- Schedule adjustments (section changes, adding a new class, dropping without a "W" grade)
- Being reinstated or re-enrolled in classes after being dropped for non-payment
- Completing the process for tuition exemptions or waivers through Financial Aid

State-Mandated Course Drop Policy

Texas law prohibits a student who began college for the first time in Fall 2007 or thereafter from dropping more than six courses during their entire undergraduate career. This includes courses dropped at another 2-year or 4-year Texas public college or university. For purposes of this rule, a dropped course is any course that is dropped after the census date (See Academic Calendar for the specific date).

Exceptions to the 6-drop rule may be found in the catalog. Petitions for exemptions must be submitted to the Enrollment Services Center and must be accompanied by documentation of the extenuating circumstance. Please contact the Enrollment Services Center if you have any questions.
