Course Description: Many Americans are only vaguely aware of what it is state governments do. Are they lower-tier entities tasked with carrying out the will of the federal government? Are they separate entities with their own sovereignty? What exactly are state governments, and where do they stand regarding the federal government of the United States? In this class we will explore the concept of the 10th Amendment and its bestowment of power to the state governments, the creation and evolution of the Texas government and Constitution, as well as the foundations and workings of the three branches of the Texas government. Furthermore, we will examine campaigns and elections, public opinion, political parties, interest groups, and the many local governments that exist in and around the Texas government.

Time Management

In order to do well in this course, you MUST take responsibility for your work habits and ensure you do all the work. In other words, if you start to neglect your work, put things off, and fall behind, it will be extremely difficult to do well in this course. For that reason, it is imperative you regularly check your email and make a plan on when you will work on your assignments, ensuring they will be completed by the posted deadline. Additionally, you should plan to study and prepare for all posted exams and the final.

Communication

I am always available to chat and happy to meet with students. If you ever need to chat, you can either stop by during office hours or email me to make an appointment (either in office or online). You can email either myself or the TA with any questions or concerns about the course. When emailing, please allow 24 hours for a response (emails over weekends may not be responded to till the next business day).

Be sure to only email using your student email account. Due to FERPA, we may not be able to respond with course information to personal email accounts.

Assignments

Participation 15%

Online Discussion Forum: 20%

Exams 40%

Final Exam 25%

Participation: Part of doing well in this course is showing up and participating in the class lecture and discussion. Attendance will be taken periodically throughout the course in the form of quizzes or other activities.

Online Discussion Forums: For class on Fridays there will be an online discussion blog where students will consider a topic from the week's topic and respond to other students on the same topic. More detailed instructions for this will be in Canvas.

Exams: Exams will consist of multiple-choice questions, which will be based heavily off of materials discussed in class. I will drop the lowest exam grade.

Final Exam will be held during the university's scheduled timeslot for this course. This exam will be cumulative, meaning it will cover all material discussed throughout this course.

Letter Grades:

A = 90-100

B = 80-89

C = 70-79

D = 60-69

F = 59 and below

I will round up to the nearest decimal point. For example, if you end with an 89.5 I will round that from a B to an A. There will be no exceptions to this grading policy.

Late Work

As a general rule, I will not accept late work. This means all assignments, quizzes, exams, etc. are due by their posted due date. Only in extreme extenuating circumstances, such as a medical emergency, shall late work be considered.

Disability Services

I will abide by all accommodations approved by the university to ensure fair accessibility. It is the student's responsibility to meet with the instructor and inform them of the necessary accommodation on or around the first day of class. Do not wait to do so right before an exam!

Artificial Intelligence Policy

UT Tyler is committed to exploring and using artificial intelligence (AI) tools as appropriate for the discipline and task undertaken. We encourage discussing AI tools' ethical, societal, philosophical, and disciplinary implications. All uses of AI should be acknowledged, as this aligns with our commitment to honor and integrity, as noted in UT Tyler's Honor Code. Faculty and students must not use protected information, data, or copyrighted materials when using any AI tool. Additionally, users should be aware that AI tools rely on predictive models to generate content that may appear correct but is sometimes shown to be incomplete, inaccurate, taken without attribution from other sources, and/or biased. Consequently, an AI tool should not be considered a substitute for traditional approaches to research. You are ultimately responsible for the quality and content of the information you submit. Misusing AI tools that violate the guidelines specified for this course (see below) is considered a breach of academic integrity. The student will be subject to disciplinary actions as outlined in UT Tyler's Academic Integrity Policy.

AI is not permitted in this course at all. I expect all work students submit for this course to be their own. I have carefully designed all assignments and class activities to support your learning. Doing your own work, without human or artificial intelligence assistance, is best for your efforts in mastering course learning objectives. For this course, I expressly forbid using ChatGPT or any other artificial intelligence (AI) tools for any stage of the work process, including brainstorming. Deviations from these guidelines will be considered a violation of UT Tyler's Honor Code and academic honesty values.
