This course seeks to develop visual literacy through the analysis of works of art, and to develop critical thinking skills through lectures, readings, writing assignments, presentations, and class discussions. Article responses, presentations, and a paper will test students’ general knowledge of information gained from class lectures, discussions and assigned texts. There will be no exams in this course. Core course SLO’s are found below.

REQUIRED TEXTS:

There is no required textbook for this class. Assigned readings will be uploaded to Canvas in PDF form.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

The dates, due dates, and specific information for assigned readings, assignments, and presentations will be on a course calendar will be posted on Canvas.

ATTENDANCE AND PARTICIPATION:

Attendance and active participation in class discussions are required. Class meets once per week. Class attendance is mandatory. Excessive tardiness will count as absenteeism. Each absence will count off 10 points out of 100 point total for attendance grade. Students who are late or who leave early will be given half credit for attendance. These policies will be strictly enforced.
Participation in class discussions is a crucial element of this course. Students are required to complete each day’s readings in advance and be prepared to discuss and ask questions about the readings. Discussion and participation in class is a key component of the attendance and participation grade.

In the event of an absence the student is responsible for obtaining class lecture notes from a classmate. If a student knows he/she is going to be late or absent, the student should inform the instructor in person or via email prior to class. Students will receive a participation grade, which is 10% of the total grade for undergraduate students and 8% of the total grade for graduate students. Students are expected to attend class, to complete the readings and assignments, and to participate in class discussions.

The professor may ask questions in class on assigned readings. If the professor feels that students are not keeping up with the reading assignments or with the discussion, pop quizzes may be given.

READING ASSIGNMENTS:

All reading assignments should be completed before the lectures for which they are assigned. A course calendar with assigned readings will be handed out in class (and posted on Canvas). Students are required to read all the assigned articles and to actively participate in class discussions of the readings.

EXAMINATIONS:

There will be no examinations in this course.

TWO PRESENTATIONS (UNDERGRADUATE)/THREE PRESENTATIONS (GRADUATE):

Undergraduate students will give a total of two (2) presentations. These presentations will cover the art of two artists included on the course calendar. On the first day of class, students will pick numbers to determine the specific days on which they will present. The artists are numbered and numbers will be drawn to randomly determine the artists on whom students will present. This information will be added to the Course Calendar and will be posted immediately after the first class. The presentations will include the use of images via PowerPoint.

Presentations should be twenty (20) minutes long. At the beginning of class, students should turn in a hard copy of their slides.

Students will briefly summarize the artist’s biography. Then, the students will discuss works by the artist in a variety of media including painting, printmaking, and sculpture. Students are permitted to critique the artists’ work but they must to so in a well-reasoned, articulate manner.

Students will present on the artists not on the articles assigned under each artist.
Students should include images in the presentation. Images must be labeled as follows: artist’s name, title of the work, date of the work, dimensions of the work, location of the work. Students should not simply include hyperlinks to the works being discussed; the actual images should be included in the presentation.

Any video clips a student wishes to use, must be sent to and approved by the professor in advance. The professor’s permission must be granted before any video clips will be shown to the class.

Students will also respond to questions from their fellow students. Students should be prepared to present on the day and in the order listed on the course calendar. A guidelines sheet will be uploaded to Canvas.

Students who are not presenting that day should be prepared to actively engage in a scholarly discussion about the material. This class is discussion based so failure to engage in class discussions or to ask questions will negatively affect students’ grades.

Graduate students will give a total of three (3) presentations. These presentations will cover the art of two artists included on the course calendar. On the first day of class, students will pick numbers to determine the specific days on which they will present. The artists are numbered and numbers will be drawn to randomly determine the artists on whom students will present. This information will be added to the Course Calendar and will be posted immediately after the first class. The presentations will include the use of images via PowerPoint.

Full policy details are printed on each Grade Replacement Contract.

The Census Date is the deadline for many forms and enrollment actions that students need to be aware of. These include:
