Last Day of Class: Thursday, April 21st

Office Hours: Thursdays 9AM – 12PM, or by appointment

Course Description: This laboratory course focuses on how animals interact with their environment and how we can scientifically study the natural world looking at these interactions. The goals of this laboratory course are for students to be able to understand those animal/environment interactions and to be able to apply statistics to test hypotheses about the interactions. The curriculum will emphasize the scientific method and hands-on activities.

Student Learning Objectives: By the end of the class, you should be able to…
1) Understand what a hypothesis is, and formulate your own hypotheses
2) Understand the steps of the scientific method and be able to follow them systematically
3) Present scientific results in a concise and informative format
4) Recognize and understand ecological interactions

EVALUATION: Students will be evaluated based on the following work:
1. Participation 10%. This will include keeping up with readings, attendance, and actively participating in class discussions.
2. Two lab reports worth 20% of your grade.
3. Weekly lab assignments will be worth 20% of your grade.
4. Examinations. One midterm and a final exam will be given. Each will be worth 25% of the final grade. In the event you wish to dispute an exam question, an essay outlining your argument must be submitted within one week of the exam being handed back. Your written appeal should be based on course materials and should stress the scientific validity of your original response.
5. We will follow a 10-point scale for grading:
   90-100% = A  80-89% = B  70-79% = C  60-69% = D  0-59% = F

Participation: You are required to be on time in lab every day and to stay the entire time until the instructor lets you go. The instructor will also monitor your participation within your lab group. By being frequently late or frequently leaving labs early (unexcused), and/or by not participating in your lab group, your final grade could drop by a whole letter based on the lost points!
Lateness/Leaving Early/Absence: You are required to be at lab on time every class period and to stay the entire class period. Failure to do so may result in a loss of points up to and including all of the day’s participation points and all of the points on all assignments that were handed in that day. Absences will be excused at the instructor’s discretion and there must be documentation.

Valid excuses include a sporting or other university-related event, a death in the family, or an illness affecting yourself or someone you must provide care for (such as a spouse or a child). Car troubles may sometimes be excused at my discretion, provided there is documentation from a police official (such as an accident report) or a mechanic’s shop that covers the dates in question. Valid excuses do not include oversleeping or work schedule problems. If you miss class because you or someone you provide care for was ill, you must provide a doctor’s note listing the dates affected. This means you or your loved one will need to visit the doctor on the day you are absent (or earlier) so that you can get a doctor’s note.

Lab Reports: There will be two lab reports during the course of the semester, worth 100 points each. No worksheets will be due when there is a lab report due. The format of the lab reports will be explained in lab. Please follow this format carefully. The goal is to write a formal scientific paper where you set up the hypothesis, explain your methods, concisely present your results, and discuss your findings as they relate to the hypothesis. Just like the lab assignments, each person is expected to write their own lab report, in their own words. You are allowed to work together and come up with answers together, but each person must write everything out on their own and in their own words. People who hand in identical or nearly identical lab reports will only receive partial credit (a maximum of 100 points divided by the number of identical lab reports). You are not allowed to share your lab report with others in your group and ask them to change the wording. This is still considered copying.

Academic integrity: Cheating or any other type of academic misconduct will be reported to the university administration, and at minimum will result in failure of the course.

Weekly Lab schedule (subject to change):

1) Hubbard Brook
2) Population Variation
3) Phenology
4) Population Dynamics
5) Human Demography
6) Guppy Sexual Selection and Evolution
7) Population Genetics
8) Aquatic Lab
9) Sexual Selection
10) Predation
