Beebe, Steven A., Masterson, Jonn T. (2015) (11th ed). Communicating in small groups: Principles and practices. Boston: Pearson Education.

Course Objectives

This course is designed to focus on both the theory and practice of communication in small, task oriented groups. Students will participate in a small, task oriented, zero-history group. Through action and reflection, you will broaden your understanding of small group processes and your own participation and practices in small groups. You will have an opportunity to learn the principles and skills of small group communication well enough to use them as a resource in analyzing group situations and apply them to evaluate and improve the communication patterns in one's own work groups. To facilitate this model, some of the time spent in this class will involve experiential learning in long-term groups.

Course Description

A study of group process and interaction, including the concepts of leadership and effective participation.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students should be able to:

- Apply effective approaches to human relational interaction through interpersonal or group and teamwork interactions in various settings and with diverse others.
- Appropriately apply communication theory to the communication rules, norms, listening skills, and rhetorical strategies used by the people around them.
- Understand communication from a variety of theoretical perspectives

Attendance Policy

Perfect attendance in this course is recommended. A student is more likely to do better in this course with higher attendance. In-class activities may be missed due to absences and are only available for make-up if the absence is excused. Due to the group-nature of this course, attendance is required. Your grade will be reduced one letter grade every three absences (a tardy may constitute an absence). If you show up late (post roll), it is your responsibility to confirm with the professor that you are counted present for the day. However, it is up to the professor as to whether your tardiness constitutes an absence. If a student must miss class, he or she is advised to contact another student to learn what was missed and if any work is due on a following class period because that work is still due next class period whether or not the absence was excused. If you are to be absent from a class, whether or not you miss any assignments, you must notify the teacher before-hand if possible, but no later than the next class period, of your desire to make up any missed work in order to be able to do so. Illness excuses must be accompanied by a doctor's note for instructor consideration.

Participation

Students are expected to not only attend class, but to play active roles in the classroom. Assigned text readings are to be completed before each class session and students are encouraged to ask questions or offer insight during class periods. When group or individual assignments or activities are assigned, everyone is expected to participate as assigned.

Assignments and Exams

All assignments are due when stated by the instructor. As the college experience is, in part, designed to prepare students for the work place, ABSOLUTELY NO LATE WORK will be accepted. If you have completed at least part of an assignment by the due date, it is better to turn in part of the assignment on time than to turn in the completed assignment late for no credit. All homework turned in, unless otherwise stated, is to be typed. Any exam must be taken on the designated day and time set forth by the instructor. Any exceptions to due dates must be verified with the instructor prior to the scheduled deadline. Lack of performance as a part of a group assignment can constitute in a lowered grade than other group members.

Original Work

All student work must be original to the student and original for the course where assigned. Any failure to abide by high standards or ethics in regard to student work will be handled by the instructor and the university and may constitute in the student failing the course and receiving further reprimand from the university. Plagiarism is a big deal and the consequences can go much further than the universities reach, so please be careful.

Grade Replacement/Forgiveness and Census Date Policies

Students repeating a course for grade forgiveness (grade replacement) must file a Grade Replacement Contract with the Enrollment Services Center (ADM 230) on or before the Census Date of the semester in which the course will be repeated. (For Fall, the Census Date is Sept. 12.) Grade Replacement Contracts are available in the Enrollment Services Center or at <http://www.uttyler.edu/registrar>. Each semester's Census Date can be found on the Contract itself, on the Academic Calendar, or in the information pamphlets published each semester by the Office of the Registrar.

Failure to file a Grade Replacement Contract will result in both the original and repeated grade being used to calculate your overall grade point average. Undergraduates are eligible to exercise grade replacement for only three course repeats during their career at UT Tyler; graduates are eligible for two grade replacements. Full policy details are printed on each Grade Replacement Contract.

The Census Date (Sept. 12th) is the deadline for many forms and enrollment actions of which students need to be aware. These include:

- Submitting Grade Replacement Contracts, Transient Forms, requests to withhold directory information, approvals for taking courses as Audit, Pass/Fail or Credit/No Credit.
- Receiving 100% refunds for partial withdrawals. (There is no refund for these after the Census Date)
- Schedule adjustments (section changes, adding a new class, dropping without a "W" grade)
- Being reinstated or re-enrolled in classes after being dropped for non-payment
- Completing the process for tuition exemptions or waivers through Financial Aid

State-Mandated Course Drop Policy

Texas law prohibits a student who began college for the first time in Fall 2007 or thereafter from dropping more than six courses during their entire undergraduate career. This includes courses dropped at another 2-year or 4-year Texas public college or university. For purposes of this rule, a dropped course is any course that is dropped after the census date (See Academic Calendar for the specific date).

Exceptions to the 6-drop rule may be found in the catalog. Petitions for exemptions must be submitted to the Enrollment Services Center and must be accompanied by documentation of the extenuating circumstance. Please contact the Enrollment Services Center if you have any questions.

Revised 05/17

Student Absence for University-Sponsored Events and Activities

If you intend to be absent for a university-sponsored event or activity, you (or the event sponsor) must notify the instructor at least two weeks prior to the date of the planned absence. At that time the instructor will set a date and time when make-up assignments will be completed.

Social Security and FERPA Statement

It is the policy of The University of Texas at Tyler to protect the confidential nature of social security numbers. The University has changed its computer programming so that all students have an identification number. The electronic transmission of grades (e.g., via e-mail) risks violation of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act; grades will not be transmitted electronically.

If you require assistance during an evacuation, inform your instructor in the first week of class. Do not re-enter the building unless given permission by University Police, Fire department, or Fire Prevention Services.

SPCM 3322 Small Group Communication
Group Research Presentations

As a group you will locate and decide upon one current (from last 5 years) academic research paper regarding group communication. Each member in the group will read the research paper and as a group, depending on the group size, each member will prepare and present an explanation of each of the major parts of the paper respectively. For example, if the group has 5 members, one member will discuss the review of literature, one member the rationale and hypothesis, one member the methodology of the study, one member the results of the study, and the last member would discuss the limitations of the study and the future research implications. This presentation is to be prepared as a group and presented as a group.) Example studies are related to topics such as college social clubs and online social groups.

There is no paper due for this assignment. Presentation will be graded on choice of pertinent article, understanding of the research, and overall presentation to the audience in understandable and interesting manner along with basic presentation skills. Each group member must participate in the presentation and the group will share the overall grade. Presentation 8-10 minutes.
35 pts.

SPCM 3322 Small Group Communication
80s Video

As a group select an 80s song. Develop an 80s music video to the song and be prepared to show the video to the class. Remember, these groups are gender-mixed and these videos are for class and instructor viewing, so be sure that all group members are comfortable with the song choice and the video – be appropriate. Place the video either on a DVD drive or upload the video to youtube for ease of access during class presentation. Confirm that the video works prior to class beginning on the day the video is due. Video will be graded on creativity, effort, and group cohesion, along with appropriate nature of song and video. The video should be 3-4 minutes in length (not entire song) and can be a conglomeration of songs.
35 pts.

SPCM 3322 Small Group Communication Research Argument

There seems to be a dichotomous relationship between mid-semester individual conferences regarding co-group member satisfaction and end of the semester co-group member satisfaction as regarding the extent of disclosure. In the past I have conducted individual mid-semester conferences with each student in an effort to learn of any significant issues that might exist among class groups. By and large, the answers are positive, where students state things in the group are fine. However, if upon completion of the semester a student thinks his or her grade was not sufficiently high, they sometimes begin to blame other group members, stating that one or more in the group was absent regularly, rude, lazy, etc. This is information that would have been helpful to know and discuss during the semester, but becomes a moot point post semester.

As a group you are to construct a valid argument based on theory regarding this topic. More specifically, write about why there is this separation between reality and what students are willing to communicate to the professor mid-semester. Base your argument on theory. (APA format – current edition, 12-font, Times New Roman, standard margins, single-spaced and 10 academic sources, minimum 10 pages). Papers graded on content, APA style, length, grammar, etc.

Presentation

Each group will present their findings/argument in a panel-like format. Presentation will be graded on content and overall presentation of content to audience per grading rubric guidelines below. Group time limit – 10 minutes.

Paper = 100 pts.

Presentation = 25 pts.

SPCM 3322 Small Group Communication Service-Learning

As a group, decide upon a local organization with which you would like to volunteer one hour of service. Contact the organization and schedule a time when all group members can be present to serve together. While serving, take at least six pictures of the group serving together (everyone must be in at least one picture). Suggested places of service are Tiger Creek, a nearby retirement home (just hanging out with the elderly), etc. The chosen service must be cleared through the professor.
25 pts.

SPCM 3322 Small Group Communication Team-Building Exercise

As a group, discuss possible issues that are common among small groups. Then develop an original team-building exercise designed to “fix” or improve the issue. Once the exercise is developed, each group member must play an active role in acting out the team-building exercise on video (each member must be present in the video). The video is then presented to the class. When presented, the group must disclose to the class:

1. The issue addressed by the exercise
2. Show the Video
3. Briefly discuss how the exercise truly works on the issue

Team-building exercise will be graded on originality, validity (does the exercise truly address the issue), presentation (energy, content, and overall presentation style to engage audience), and overall level of effort. There is no paper with this assignment. Overall presentation/video length 3-4 minutes.

35 pts.

SPCM 3322 Small Group Communication
Career Path Paper

Write a short paper: 1-2 pages (APA not required, Times New Roman, 12-font, standard margins) about how small group communication does or will play into your chosen career path.
15 pts.

SPCM 3322 Small Group Communication
Narrative (Story-Telling)

As a group, take a traditional children's story (i.e. The Three Little Pigs) and develop a creative twist. Rework the story together with contributions from each group member. Prepare to tell the story to the class. Assignment graded on content, creativity, group cohesion, and overall presentation quality. Story 3-4 minutes.
15 pts.

SPCM 3322 Small Group Communication
Conflict Style Analysis

Take the conflict style analysis provided by the instructor. When completed, document (type) the following with headings:

1. Results
2. Whether or not you agree with the results
3. An example of why you think the results are true or false
4. Ask a close friend/family member about the results and document their comments regarding the validity
5. Document your close friend/family member's reasoning by way of an example

Type headings for each of the paper's five sections. There is not length requirement for this assignment – just be sure to adequately cover the five sections.
15 pts.

SPCM 3322 Small Group Communication
Meal

Eat a meal with your group. Each group member must contribute to the meal by bringing a food item he or she has prepared (only in rare extreme cases will the professor allow store-purchased food). Set a time and place to share the meal. Families are welcome to attend and points for this project are awarded via a minimum of 6 pictures taken during the meal process.
35 pts.

In each of the following sections, rate your fellow group member on a scale from 1 – 10 with 10 being the highest score. Once you have completed 5 scales, total the scales for a score out of 50. In some cases, students create a strong bond while working with classmates. These relationships can be a wonderful product of teamwork, but please do your best to offer an objective evaluation of your group members. Your responses remain confidential and are averaged for the group.

Description of Work	Grade (1-10)
Attendance This group member was timely and present at most all group meeting.
Initiation This group member seemed engaged in group meetings, offering thoughtful comments and feedback. Generated original ideas and worked with other group members to further develop their ideas.
Workload This group member carried his or her allotted and fair amount of work within the group.
Relational This group member worked to build and maintain strong and positive working relationships with fellow group members. This section is not about popularity or personality differences as much as it is about effort to work together in a positive way.
Overall This section is designed to capture other elements not mentioned above. You can offer an overall grade here or even write in comments regarding your teammate and offer a score on this overall scale.
