

3.4 Plagiarism

(Approved Shared Governance/Leadership Team 4/24/19)

Plagiarism in any form is not tolerated in the school of nursing. This includes: copying/buying or appropriating others work and claiming it as your own. It also includes self-plagiarism*, which is copying your own work from previous assignments and claiming it as new, original work. Any plagiarism will result in a score of "0" on the whole assignment, but can include a failure of the course, and/or dismissal from the program. The incident may also be referred to judicial affairs.

 Some courses will specifically ask you to turn in multiple iterations of the same assignment. When this is part of the assignment, it is not considered self-plagiarism.*
