Abstract:

The 2008 Global Financial Crisis, dubbed the Great Recession by many commentators, caused many average people around the world to question the generally positive views of economic globalization. Prior to 2008 politicians, CEOs, and political commentators made careers off their support and promotion of the global integration of markets. The New York Times opinion writer and respected journalist, Thomas Friedman, practically gushed in his books and Op/Ed articles about the inevitability of globalization as a force of nature that would lift all economic boats and bring peace and democracy to the world. This view of global capitalism as an unquestionable force for peace and prosperity was severely tested when in 2008 the global financial crisis wrought only prosperity for a few while the rest saw their houses lose value, their retirement plans reduced or wiped out, and their jobs disappear. Indeed, at its lowest point, hundreds of thousands of US workers and millions of Chinese workers were losing their jobs. Calling Britain’s vote to leave the European Union (aka Brexit), the election of Donald Trump, the repressive policies of Duterte in the Philippines, the election of Brazilian right-wing populist Jair Bolsonaro in Brazil, and Mexico’s left-wing populist Andres Manuel Lopez Obrador a “populist explosion,” commentators have begun to write globalization’s obituary.

Course objective:

This course is designed to introduce students to the theoretical debates over populism and a broad range of cultural, economic, political, and social issues that seem to be cause this global “populist explosion.” The course is structured around three thematic questions. 1) What is the relationship between populism and democracy? 2) Does populism have a coherent ideology associated with it? And 3) what, if any, relationship does populism have with globalization? These questions are designed to capture principal dimensions of the multifaceted aspects of this complex and contested global phenomenon.

Required Reading (i.e. you must buy these books):

Texts:

Film Screening

We will also be watching at least one film during the course of the class: This is What Democracy Looks Like—in addition to being exceptionally good, there will be paper questions and class discussion dedicated to this film.

News

Because there is already quite a bit of reading for this class, students are not required to keep up with the news regarding populism—although this is highly recommended. I will post links to good news sources on the class’ Canvas website.

Office Hours

I really enjoy meeting with students during office hours and encourage all students to stop by. I have traditional office hours from MWF 12:10-1:10pm; and by appointment as needed. In addition, anyone who cannot meet me during this time should contact me via email to schedule an appointment. I am available by email and will respond to your emails within one working day.

Student Learning Outcomes:

By the end of this course students will be able to:

- Classify, describe, and distinguish the left-wing, right-wing, and other forms of populism.
- Classify, describe, and distinguish the major ideological viewpoints on populism.
- Classify, describe, and distinguish some of the major empirical examples of historical populism and contemporary populism.
- Define several different types of populism (or at least the scholarly debates).
- Choose and apply differing ideological and theoretical approaches to the study of populism.
- Analyze and appraise competing ideological descriptions of global political phenomena that might relate to the rise of populism in the contemporary period.
- Critically appraise competing approaches to the study of populism
- Conduct research on a particular case of populism in the world

Assignments (Assessment of Student Learning Outcomes)
It is important to me to encourage you to maintain an exploratory mind and create your own active learning environment—not solely interacting with me, but with each other as well. I will facilitate student discussions by creating a safe context that allows you to speak up freely. But I do not accept the equation of subjective experience with “truth.” You must be able to confront the questions I ask, regardless of your own preferences. Most of all, I am interested in preparing you for independent research which requires a tolerant, reflective mind, best summarized by Immanuel Kant’s dictum: “Sapere aude”—“Have the courage to use your own understanding!”

The course readings, assignments, and videos have been carefully selected to generate broad in-class discussions and oral presentations, ultimately guiding students to write informed essays. Responsible participation in class discussions will be based on weekly assignments.

In the third section of the course, students (in groups) will be responsible for a 30 min. in-class presentation on the readings (including leading class in the ensuing 25 min. discussion). Please clarify a suitable topic with me beforehand during my office hours. Please use supportive materials for your presentation (handouts, video clips, overhead, computer technology, etc.). Sign up for your presentation in the first three weeks of classes.

Moreover, you are required to write three interpretive essays (1200 to 1500 word double-spaced, typed pages in length). Each paper should address one well-formulated theme or problem taken from a) weeks 1-5 (due in week 5); b) weeks 6-10 (due in week 10); and, c) weeks 10-15 (last day of class).

For the interpretive papers, you will pick your own theme/problem from the relevant readings of that particular section. In the paper, you should carefully explore the meaning of the theme/problem, and, with as much sophistication as possible, you should indicate how that theme/problem reveals something of political significance about the larger context from which it is taken. No book reports or plot summaries please! These short essays represent exercises in critical political thinking. No late papers will be accepted.

A Note on Grading

You must complete all assigned written and oral work in order to pass the course. Any student found guilty of plagiarism will fail the course.

Your in-class presentation will count for 15%, your three interpretive essays 75% (25% each), your attendance and participation 10%. Thus, your course grade will reflect your presentation, your willingness to participate in discussions, class attendance, and the overall quality of your written work. You are required to sign the circulating attendance sheet at the beginning of each class. You are allowed a total of 2 absences (no documentation necessary); each additional absence will result in a penalty of 5% (up to the total of 10%). Students who distinguish themselves during our class discussions will receive extra credit—meaning that if you find yourself between two grades at the end of the semester, you will receive the higher grade.
Please be advised that overparticipation and the monopolization of class discussion at the expense of your peers may count against you, especially if such actions consistently derail the course agenda. I reserve the right to cut off discussion at any point in order keep us on track and help all students to understand the relevant material. A significant element in the study of political theory is the ability to learn to listen to other voices.

For the purposes of this seminar, you should interpret the grades you receive in the following terms:

1) In-Class Presentations:

An “A” will only be given to presentations that are clearly superior in form as well as content. Typically, such presentations are coherent, well-organized, and adhere to the given time frame. “A” students show their thorough and careful reading of the text(s), bring in outside materials for reference, and generate genuine interest and excitement for their topic. They lead discussions effortlessly, distribute speaking time fairly, and stay focused on their theme. Use Hand-outs which help students follow along and suggest further readings (reference list to books and journal articles that you used).

If this grade is to mean something, just doing a “good job” is not good enough for an “A.” You must demonstrate your ability to go beyond the expected.

2) Interpretative Essays:

Much of the above pertains to essays/papers as well. In addition to treating the subject in a sophisticated and creative manner, “A” papers exhibit elegant and clear prose. Such papers draw connections between nonobvious points; they are well organized and furnish adequate citations of primary and secondary sources without losing their own unique and distinct “voice.” An “A” term paper in an advanced undergraduate course should add a “new wrinkle” to the existing body of literature on this topic.

Late paper policy

Papers will be marked down one third of a grade every (business) day they are late (i.e. 24 hours late turns a B+ into a B). If you do not turn in a paper you get zero points. If a paper is late two weeks or more you will automatically receive an F (59%). It is in your interest to turn all assignments in, even if they are late, since failing to turn in even one paper makes it almost mathematically impossible to pass the class.
NOTE: This fairly lenient late policy will be compensated for by the fact that there will be NO extensions given, except in case of an extreme emergency. If an emergency arises, documentation is required (police reports, obituaries, etc.) and I should be notified as soon as possible.

_Turing in papers_

Papers will be turned in via safeassign/blacboard.  _Later papers will receive grades only, no comments._

_Assignments and Grades_

_“A” paper_—provides an original, insightful, and well argued thesis which is defended systematically using significant citation; demonstrates a sophisticated understanding of the course material; is elegantly written and thoroughly proofread.

_“B” paper_—proves a coherent thesis which is defended; uses sufficient citations; demonstrates an understanding of the course material; is well written.

_“C” paper_—provides a more-or-less coherent thesis; uses adequate citations; demonstrates a basic understanding of the course material; is readable.

_“D” paper_—provides a basic argument; uses minimal or no citations; demonstrates minimal understanding of the course material; is poorly written

_“F” paper_—Paper is turned in but does not meet basic requirements (too short, does not answer the question, etc.). Not turning in a paper results in a zero.

Grade Scale

- 100-93 = A
- 90-92 = A-
- 86-89 = B+
- 83-85 = B
- 80-82 = B-
- 76-79 = C+
- 73-75 = C
- 70-72 = C-
- 66-69 = D+
- 63-65 = D
- 60-86 = D-
- 0-59 = F

Academic Dishonesty

The UT Tyler community regards cheating as an extremely serious matter and deals severely with those who violate the standards of academic integrity.

Examples of academic dishonesty include (but are not limited to):

- Copying from another person’s test paper
- During a test, possession of materials not authorized by the person administering the test
- Discussing the contents of an examination with another student who will take the examination or the divulging of examination contents to another when an instructor has allowed the exam to be kept by the student
- Working with others in taking tests or preparing academic assignments when not authorized by the course instructor
- Obtaining by any means another person’s work and submitting that work as one’s own. This included the downloading of academic papers or the purchase of papers written by others.
If a student is suspected of academic dishonesty, the classroom instructor may ask the student to meet with him or her to discuss the incident. A student may admit to allegations of academic dishonesty, waive the right to a hearing and accept penalties imposed by the instructor. The student may also deny all allegations and ask to see the Dean of Student Affairs. An accused student may accept the decision of the Dean of Student Affairs or ask for a hearing before an impartial hearing officer appointed by the university. Witnesses may be called and evidence presented. The hearing officer will consider all evidence and make a decision. The decision of the hearing officer may be appealed to the President by either the student or the Dean of Student Affairs. For a discussion of possible penalties, please see http://www.uttyler.edu/mainsite/conduct.html.

University Policies

Students Rights and Responsibilities
To know and understand the policies that affect your rights and responsibilities as a student at UT Tyler, please follow this link: http://www2.uttyler.edu/wellness/rightsresponsibilities.php

Grade Replacement/Forgiveness and Census Date Policies
Students repeating a course for grade forgiveness (grade replacement) must file a Grade Replacement Contract with the Enrollment Services Center (ADM 230) on or before the Census Date of the semester in which the course will be repeated. Grade Replacement Contracts are available in the Enrollment Services Center or at http://www.uttyler.edu/registrar. Each semester’s Census Date can be found on the Contract itself, on the Academic Calendar, or in the information pamphlets published each semester by the Office of the Registrar. Failure to file a Grade Replacement Contract will result in both the original and repeated grade being used to calculate your overall grade point average. Undergraduates are eligible to exercise grade replacement for only three course repeats during their career at UT Tyler; graduates are eligible for two grade replacements. Full policy details are printed on each Grade Replacement Contract. The Census Date is the deadline for many forms and enrollment actions that students need to be aware of. These include:

- Submitting Grade Replacement Contracts, Transient Forms, requests to withhold directory information, approvals for taking courses as Audit, Pass/Fail or Credit/No Credit.
- Receiving 100% refunds for partial withdrawals. (There is no refund for these after the Census Date)
- Schedule adjustments (section changes, adding a new class, dropping without a “W” grade)
- Being reinstated or re-enrolled in classes after being dropped for non-payment
- Completing the process for tuition exemptions or waivers through Financial Aid

State-Mandated Course Drop Policy
Texas law prohibits a student who began college for the first time in Fall 2007 or thereafter from dropping more than six courses during their entire undergraduate career. This includes courses dropped at another 2-year or 4-year Texas public college or university. For purposes of this rule, a dropped course is any course that is dropped after the census date (See Academic Calendar for the specific date).
Exceptions to the 6-drop rule may be found in the catalog. Petitions for exemptions must be submitted to the Enrollment Services Center and must be accompanied by documentation of the extenuating circumstance. Please contact the Enrollment Services Center if you have any questions.

Disability Services
In accordance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and the ADA Amendments Act (ADAAA) the University offers accommodations to students with learning, physical and/or psychiatric disabilities. If you have a disability, including non-visible disabilities such as chronic diseases, learning disabilities, head injury, PTSD or ADHD, or you have a history of modifications or accommodations in a previous educational environment you are encouraged to contact the Student Accessibility and Resources office and schedule an interview with the Accessibility Case Manager/ADA Coordinator, Cynthia Lowery Staples. If you are unsure if the above criteria applies to you, but have questions or concerns please contact the SAR office. For more information or to set up an appointment please visit the SAR office located in the University Center, Room 3150 or call 903.566.7079. You may also send an email to cstaples@uttyler.edu

Student Absence due to Religious Observance
Students who anticipate being absent from class due to a religious observance are requested to inform the instructor of such absences by the second class meeting of the semester.

Student Absence for University-Sponsored Events and Activities
If you intend to be absent for a university-sponsored event or activity, you (or the event sponsor) must notify the instructor at least two weeks prior to the date of the planned absence. At that time the instructor will set a date and time when make-up assignments will be completed.

Social Security and FERPA Statement:
It is the policy of The University of Texas at Tyler to protect the confidential nature of social security numbers. The University has changed its computer programming so that all students have an identification number. The electronic transmission of grades (e.g., via e-mail) risks violation of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act; grades will not be transmitted electronically.

Emergency Exits and Evacuation:
Everyone is required to exit the building when a fire alarm goes off. Follow your instructor’s directions regarding the appropriate exit. If you require assistance during an evacuation, inform your instructor in the first week of class. Do not re-enter the building unless given permission by University Police, Fire department, or Fire Prevention Services

Campus Carry:
We respect the right and privacy of students 21 and over who are duly licensed to carry concealed weapons in this class. License holders are expected to behave responsibly and keep a handgun secure and concealed. More information is available at http://www.uttyler.edu/about/campus-carry/index.php

UT Tyler a Tobacco-Free University:
All forms of tobacco will not be permitted on the UT Tyler main campus, branch campuses, and any property owned by UT Tyler. This applies to all members of the University community, including students, faculty, staff, University affiliates, contractors, and visitors.
Forms of tobacco not permitted include cigarettes, cigars, pipes, water pipes (hookah), bidis, kreteks, electronic cigarettes, smokeless tobacco, snuff, chewing tobacco, and all other tobacco products. There are several cessation programs available to students looking to quit smoking, including counseling, quitlines, and group support. For more information on cessation programs please visit www.utttyler.edu/tobacco-free.

Themes: Post-Soviet States, Eastern and Central Europe

Readings:
Week 10 (March 23-27): Analysis & Papers

SECOND ESSAY DUE: review the challenges and consider each perspective with care. To what extent do these challenges merit responses? 5-7 pages. Rough draft due on Monday, final draft due online on Friday.

Please note that Wednesday and Friday will be research and writing days. Go to the library and work on your paper.

Part III: Integrating Case Studies: Issues and Debates

Week 11: Student Presentations

Week 12: Student Presentations

Week 13: Student Presentations

Part IV: Assessing the value of the term populism

Week 14: Course wrap-up and final analyses

Final Assignment Due (this will take the place of the final exam).

Third Essay Due: five to seven pages offering a sophisticated analysis of your case study (taken from your presentation in weeks 11-14) that uses the theoretical approaches discussed in weeks 2-5 and/or challenges discussed in weeks 11-13. Conclude by discussing to the extent that your case helps see the value of studying populism. This assignment is meant to tie together the entirety of the course by combining the theoretical approaches from the beginning to practically applied portions of Part III (weeks 11-13). Please note that you will receive a grade only for this final paper as I will not have time to make comments and get grades into the registrar in a timely fashion. Paper due April 30.
