Spring 2023
Qualitative Book Club at UT Tyler
Supported by ORSSP’s Research Design and Data Analysis Lab

Purpose: To read essential books on qualitative research (see Appendix), share scholarly and practical tips for conducting qualitative research, and see possibilities for future research collaborations among qualitative researchers at UT Tyler.

Co-Leaders: Drs. Yonjoo Cho, Professor of the Department of HRD and Annamary Consalvo, Associate Professor of the School of Education and Qualitative Research Consultant with ORSSP

Meeting Time: Once a month – last Thursdays from 3:00pm-4:00pm

Meeting Place: Library 202 and Zoon (will be notified upon registration)

Book to Acquire:

Dates and Readings:
- 1/26 (Thu) at 3:00pm – Chapters 1 to 2 (pp. 1 – 43) – done!
- 2/23 (Thu) at 3:00pm – Chapters 3 to 5 (pp. 45 – 115)
- 3/30 (Thu) at 3:00pm – Chapters 6 to 7 (pp. 117 – 183)
- 4/27 (Thu) at 3:00pm – Chapters 8 to 11 (pp. 185 - 257)

Invitation: Please join us for any and all of the listed dates to discuss and reflect upon the chapters each of us will have read in preparation for a substantive dialogue. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact Yonjoo Cho (ycho@uttyler.edu).
Appendix: A List of Essential Readings on Qualitative Research

By no means a complete list, the following 15 qualitative research texts are among the books that appear frequently in peer-reviewed journals and from which this book club will draw:

- Charmaz, K. (2014). Constructing grounded theory (2nd ed.).