EBONY G.
Class of 2020
“I am so grateful to have had the opportunity to visit Italy and Greece and to have had the opportunity to explore and witness the monumental sites upon which their literature and culture is based. It was an eye-opening experience of the diversity between cultures around the world.”

GAVIN D.
Class of 2020
“It is hard to fathom, in the grand scheme of history, that a critical moment in the development of Western political thought started in Socrates’ martyrdom for justice and the laws. My future research and career choice exist because of the events that occurred in his life and during his final days in his jail cell.”
Be a part of research that is...

OUT OF THIS WORLD
Mechanical engineering students work with Dr. Mohammed Biswas to develop systems for NASA’s Johnson Space Center.

LIFE-CHANGING
Electrical engineering majors assist Dr. Premananda Indic in designing wearable biosensors to detect life-threatening illnesses in newborns.

HEARTFELT
Health and kinesiology students participate in Dr. Benjamin Tseng’s research in the treatment of patients with atrial fibrillation.

Beyond the classroom, many students at The University of Texas at Tyler are asking questions, finding answers and contributing to advancements in their fields of interest through undergraduate research and discovery.

By participating in research, you will help solve real-world problems while gaining valuable insight into your chosen field and building skills that employers seek including critical thinking, trouble shooting, communication and collaboration.

Take part in the innovative endeavors with professors like Dr. Dustin Patterson in biochemistry, who is developing cell-specific drug delivery strategies in the fight against cancer; or Dr. Nelson Fumo in mechanical engineering, who is working to increase the energy efficiency of residential air conditioning systems. Delve into psychology research with Dr. Amy Hayes on subjects such as the interaction between emotional intelligence, gender and academic achievement.

“UT Tyler has taught me that opportunities are endless for those who apply themselves. I have made friends here who I learn so much from and they help me achieve my goals.”
UT Tyler is already one of the most affordable University of Texas schools. But on top of our great price, we also award millions of dollars each year in merit and need scholarships for students who need help with the bill.

More than 80% of our students receive some sort of financial aid. In fact, once aid is calculated in, UT Tyler is one of the most affordable quality educations in Texas.

Presidential Fellowships
For incoming freshmen, UT Tyler awards full tuition, room and board, as well as books for a select group of high-achieving students. This competitive fellowship is awarded by holistic review, so get your essay ready, practice your interview, polish your SAT, and remember to apply by December 1 to be eligible.

We also have the Patriot Scholarship and the Academic Excellence Awards to meritorious freshmen. The University also awards various need grants to students who need an extra boost. Additionally, we have separate scholarship programs for our NCAA Division II athletes and transfer students.

We put our money where our mouth is. Just look at how much we gave during the 2018–19 academic year to students.
